Lord's Prayer—In Europe
Real Public Ownership
Lady Astor's Coat
30 Per Cent. a Month

—By Arthur Brisbane

The Allies are still disturbed about the German-Russian agreement. Those countries merely took a few words from the Lord's Prayer, agreeing to forgive debts, trespasses and other war incidents.

What can Allied Christian nations do to keep two other nations from living up to part of the Lord's Prayer?

Satan gnashes his teeth when he sees a repentant sinner on his knees. But why should the Allies gnash their teeth simply because Russia and Germany, hand in hand, go to bed reciting "Now I lay me down to sleep"?

It is embarrassing to have Bolshevist Russia come forward with a pious "forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those that trespass against us." But what can you do about it if the wicked decide to cease from troubling?

After thirty years of fighting, thanks to Mr. Couzens, a first class fighting Mayor, Detroit votes 4 to 1 in favor of public ownership of street cars. The roads will be bought for $19,850,000, a fair price. The street car system of Detroit will be managed for the benefit of those that live in Detroit, no longer managed merely for the profit of the few that own stock in the street cars. Other cities take notice.

The eternal feminine leads us upward—undoubtedly. It has led us from the cave and cannibalism to whatever we are. But eternal feminine never forgets feminine interests. Lady Astor, charming, young, able Anglo-American member of Parliament, arrives and cries from the ship to her sister, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, and others on the dock, "You look like a lot of poor white trash! You just ought to see my new coat!"

Thousands of years ago, on the island of Crete, women squeezed their waists, took pickles, made themselves abominably ugly. In each century that has passed they have discovered new kinds of foolishness, and they haven't finished.

Frank Munsey receives a special cable from Paris telling him that ladies now shave their eyebrows. Then they paint on the eyebrows they prefer, suitable to the idea of beauty—Satanic, Persian, Chinese or whatever.

The great Russian bank organized at Moscow "to stabilize finance and to promote industry" is in trouble—although it lends money at 12 per cent. a month. That rate, 144 per cent. a year, is low compared to what others charge in Moscow.

The bank has decided that to make "a reasonable profit" it must charge 30 per cent. a month on loans. It will pay depositors 4 per cent. a month. Such news is enough to send Reynolds, of the Continental & Commercial; Mitchell, of the National City; Clarke, of the American Exchange; Krech of the Equitable, and all the other American bankers into sweet, wild dreams.

Money works hard, doesn't care for whom it works, interest, compounded, piles up; investments well made increase in value, for the just and the unjust, the strong and the weak.

An unfortunate, insane woman, Mrs. Flagler, lives without knowing it possessor of a big fortune. Her trustee reports to the court that this year she is worth two million dollars more than she was last year. Her doctor gets ten thousand a year, various relations get from five to ten thousands. She gets all the rest and can use none of it.

Wonderful is the power of compound interest. Ask your banker about it, and let arithmetic plus a little money work for you. Get and keep money now, or worry will get you later. Poverty is slavery.

Yesterday Japan's Parliament defeated a bill called "the dangerous thought" bill. With that a man could be imprisoned seven years for thinking "dangerous thoughts" about the government. Newspapers that wanted to think and publish such thoughts beat the bill.

It was intended as a "bulwark against radicalism," which, in Japan, as in America, means a bulwark against interference with public robbery.

WOMEN TO NIGHT OF CLEAN UP TERROR IN COMMON DUBLIN

Mashers and Wayward Girls to Be Gathered in by New Campaign by Wilson

Buildings Occupied by Free State Troops Attacked; Many Bombs Hurled

A systematic campaign against spooners, mashers and wayward girls who frequent Boston Common in the Spring and Summer months is to be started immediately by the city's five policewomen.

Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson made this announcement today in explaining why the policewomen were recently transferred from the command of Captain Charles T. Reardon, head of the vice squad, to the command of Chief Inspector John R. McGarr.

"Every year at this time we get complaints of spooning and mashing on the Common," declared the Commissioner, "I believe the best way to combat this trouble is by use of the policewomen. That is the kind of work they were originally engaged to do.

"That is why I transferred them. I intend to put them to work immediately in cleaning up the Common and keeping it clean. They will work along such lines as Chief McGarr suggests. They will work in two shifts—day and night.

"I believe they can do a lot of good in rescuing wayward girls who are just starting on downward careers. That will be one of the special purposes of their assignment."

The commissioner added that the liquor squad would be retained as at present under Captain Reardon.

The commissioner made no mention of the charges recently voiced against Captain Reardon by former Policewoman Sabina Delaney, resigned. It had been rumored that the shift was the result of Miss Delaney's statements.

Dublin, April 20 (By the Associated Press).—Last night was the worst Dublin has experienced since Easter, so far as noise is concerned. The residents were kept awake by continuous rifle and machine gun fire.

The noise of military lorries rushing to the relief of places attacked was deafening, but thus far only one casualty has been reported.

Several buildings occupied by the provisional Free State government and guarded by official troops were attacked.

The headquarters of the provisional Free State government in the Colleges of Science were attacked from front and rear, but, despite terrific firing, entry was not effected. The City Hall and telephone exchange were heavily assaulted.

According to reports from an independent source, midnight had scarcely passed when heavy volleys of revolver shots were heard from Quay and Connel streets, while opposing parties exchanged dozens of shots up and down the middle of Abbey street. Firing was also observed from the old general post-

MELROSE WIFE SAVES WOMAN IN FIRE

Mrs. Christine Davidson, 72, invalid wife of David G. Davidson, No. 134 West Foster street, Melrose, was rescued in a fire in her home today by Mrs. George E. Kerr, wife of the Melrose chief of police, who lives next door. Mrs. Kerr carried the striken woman downstairs to the street. Mrs. Davidson was unconscious when rescued.

NEW MOVE TO END TEXTILE STRIKE

Lawrence, April 20.—The latest move for settlement of the textile strike was announced this afternoon when the Mayor's committee of seven clergymen, under Rev. James T. O'Reilly, reported that the mill men have agreed to meet delegations from their own employes to discuss the 20 per cent. cut in wages which caused the strike. The meetings will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

WALTHAM MAN GETS HIS $1,000 BACK

Dickran Artigan of Waltham, who was arrested a year ago for assault on his wife after keeping her locked in a room for ten days, feeding her only bread and water, today was given back $1,000 bond fixed by the court at the time of the arrest. "I'm a happy man," he told the court as he held up a smiling two months old baby, while his wife at his side blushed.

Girl, 24, Admitted to Practice Before U. S. Supreme Court

Washington, April 20 (By International News Service).—A slender, graceful, brown-haired girl, looking very much like the hundreds of high school girls, who may be seen anywhere in the national capital, today has the distinction of being the youngest person ever admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States.

She is Miss Pauline M. Floyd of Washington, and she has attained this honor at the age of twenty-four years. Miss Floyd was born in Washington, but she has lived in Baltimore and Arkansas. During three years' practice in local courts, she has never lost a case.

INSULTS JUDGE, GOES TO JAIL

Daniel Fitzgerald of Elm street, Charlestown, created a disturbance in Charlestown Court today when he called Judge Charles S. Sullivan a "gray-headed old fool," and declared he never "got a square break from the police or courts of Charlestown."

Judge Sullivan, who had sentenced him to three months in the House of Correction for drunkenness, imposed an additional fifteen days in Charles Street Jail for contempt of court and Fitzgerald was removed, still swearing and howling, by two court officers.

He appealed the three months sentence and was held in $700 bail for the May term of the court.

HEYDLER PAYS VISIT TO MAYOR CURLEY

President John A. Heydler of the National League Baseball Association visited Mayor Curley today and received the "key" to the city. The Mayor said: "We look to you, sir, to give us a pennant winning team in Boston this year—if you do that you will do more to enhance the glory of the city than any other individual within the confines of Massachusetts." "Nothing would give me more pleasure," said Mr. Heydler. I believe the Boston club is better this year than last."

GIRLS IN BACK BAY RAID ARE SET FREE

Louise Martelle and Margaret Laird, arrested in a raid on Astor street, Back Bay, some days ago, and who defaulted when their cases were called in Roxbury Court, came up for hearing today and their cases were dismissed. Five other girls and three men who were arrested at the same time were given a hearing last week and the cases dismissed.

SAILOR LOST AT SEA SHIP JUST IN REPORTS

The ship sailed from Cuba April 10. That night w[as] came for Driscoll to t[ake] on deck he was missi[ng] ing and other belong[ings] were found in his berth.

DEMANDS ACTION ON FARES

Curley Writes Speaker Young Again to Hasten Reduction to Nickel

Mayor James M. Curley today struck another blow for the restoration of the five-cent fare on the Boston Elevated.

In a letter to Speaker Young, Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Mayor demanded action, not silence.

Sherman L. Whipple, conducting thelegal end of the fight for a five-cent fare, also fired a shot at the sluggish legislative leaders, by demanding that a date be set immediately for a public hearing.

The mayor in his letter states in part:

"On April 11, I wrote asking you to bring up for action by the Rules Committee the resolution presented by Representative McCormack, or, in the alternative, to appoint a day for public hearing in relation to the resolve. I have received no answer to my letter.

DEMANDS A REPLY.

"I am at a loss to understand your refusal either to act in this matter or to reply to my letter. I cannot believe that I am to infer from it that all action on this matter of such vast importance to the people of Boston is to be defeated by a concerted refusal to act and silence as to the reasons.

"I once more urge you earnestly to give the matter your attention, at least to give me the courtesy of a reply, stating reasons if any, why my request should not be granted."

The Whipple letter is as follows:

"I have been in conference with Mayor Curley relative to the McCormack resolve, now before the Rules Committee, which calls for the opinion of the Attorney General as to whether the contract contained in the Eelevated Railway Act of 1918 could be set aside by the courts if it could be made to appear that this legislation was brought about by fraud.

WHIPPLE'S LETTER.

"The Mayor has asked me to appear before your committee at a public hearing for the purpose of expressing his views on the subject and I have consented to do so.

"I deem the matter one of paramount importance. It interests the public and affects the public interests. I think it should have the most earnest and serious consideration of the present Legislature.

"I will ask you, therefore, if you would be good enough to notify me of the date or such a hearing when it has been arranged. I venture to express hope that the matter will receive prompt attention, especially in view of the fact that the present session is so near its end."

GRILL GIRL IN CHINESE MURDER

White Friend of Slain Man Revealed in Story of Death Suspect

A white girl, said to live in Roxbury, entered the Chinese murder mystery today when it became known that Fong Jow, Providence "butcher Chinaman" arrested in connection with the murder Tuesday of Donald S. Dunn in Boston's Chinatown, revealed he had entertained the girl the night before the murder and had left Dunn to meet her.

That the girl may have been the cause of Dunn's slaying was admitted by police. She is said to have been known by Dunn and others in Chinatown. They resented an out-of-town countryman paying her attentions.

Today in New Hampshire the girl was grilled by Boston detectives. She fled following the murder. It is said she received a telegram the night before Dunn was found slain, saying her mother was critically ill.

GIRL QUESTIONED.

Detectives went to her New Hampshire address to question the girl as to her friendship with the dead man and also Fong Jow.

The angle that a scorned women's wrath might have prompted the slaying of Dunn also entered the case, the police admitted. Dunn was known as a "Millionaire Kid" among his Chinese friends. He was the son of a millionaire importer in China and was a student at Northeastern College. It is said he had many admirers among white girls. That the Roxbury girl may have once played a prominent part in Dunn's life only to be supplanted by another may have left wrath smouldering in a once light heart.

Dunn was found slain in his room at No. 145 Harrison avenue. A butcher knife protruded from his skull. Patrolmen shivered at the brutality revealed in the killing. The knife had been plunged through the young student's skull.

Today Jow's revelations bringing in the girl were startling. He is a kitchen butcher in a Westminster street chop suey restaurant in Providence. The knife found sticking out of Dunn's skull was a butcher knife.

JOW'S VERSION.

Jow, who is twenty-two years old, admitted to Inspector James A. Dennessy he had called twice on Dunn and his roommate, Ang Look, now held charged with the murder, the night before Dunn was found killed.

"I told them," he said, "that I heard they wanted to see me. They said 'No.' I said, 'Well, I came up, anyway, to see a white girl. I'm

MEN MAKE GETAWAY AFTER CHASE

Two Youths Foiled by Patrolman Shay in Attempt to Steal Car

Three pistol shots were fired by Patrolman John J. Shay of Somerville in a thrilling chase after two auto thieves who were foiled in an attempt to steal a car in Somerville today.

The men escaped by dodging through a number of back yards and plunging into a small stretch of woods along the Somerville boulevard.

A youth later found hiding under a piazza was taken to the station house as a suspect, but later was released. He explained that he had been frightened by the pistol shots and sought a place of refuge.

Patrolman Shea was coming down Highland avenue, near Trull lane, when informed by a pedestrian that two young men were acting suspiciously around a couple of cars parked in front of Unitarian Hall.

As the officer started toward the pair both ran. Drawing his revolver Patrolman Shay started in pursuit. He shouted to the fugitives to stop, but they only increased their speed.

Thereupon Patrolman Shay fired a warning shot into the air. When this also failed to halt the fleeing pair he sent two more shots straight in their direction. Both bullets missed.

At this juncture the fugitives darted through a yard and emerged on Willoughby street. The officer followed in pursuit, but the fugitives kept out of range by dodging through back yards. They finally succeeded in throwing the patrolman off the scent and vanished.

A number of residents joined the officer in a search of the woods for the men, but the latter made their getaway.

While the chase was at its height another patrolman discovered a seventeen-year-old boy crouched under a piazza on Sycamore street and or-

Goodwin Will Bar "Unsafe" Drivers

In an attempt to avert the auto death wave, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin today declared he would suspend the license of every autoist regarded as a menace to safety on the highways.

Goodwin declared "the usual April increase in motor vehicle accidents" has begun. Children and aged people are the principal sufferers, he said. There are 40,500 more pleasure cars and 7,000 more trucks registered than a year ago.

Goodwin called upon the police chiefs throughout the State for help in the crusade. They know the local conditions, he said in a letter to them, and he will snap up the license of every man and women known by them to be an unsafe driver.

"The custom of prosecuting persons for speeding or for not slowing down at intersecting streets is not sufficiently drastic," Goodwin said. "Any person who can afford to have an automobile can afford to pay a fine of $5 or $10.

"The time has come when we must take these people off the road. I shall be pleased to accept any recommendation from you to suspend the license of any person whom you think is a menace on the highway. It is better to take him off the road before an accident than to wait until he kills some one."

Hundreds Die in Explosion at Salonika

Athens, April 20. (By the Associated Press).—Advices from Salonika today report great loss of life as a result of an explosion of war material stored 200 metres from the Salonika railway station.

Hundreds of children were buried in the ruins of a church on which shells fell.

It was believed 1,800 soldiers were buried in the ruins of their barracks which were demolished, the advices state.

The disaster occurred at noon yesterday. Details are lacking, but the dispatch received here said it was known the death toll was large.

The soldiers were having dinner when their barracks were destroyed. The railway station was demolished.

Fires immediately started in several places, and the inhabitants fled in panic.

A dispatch from Belgrade yesterday reported an explosion in an ammunition dump at Monastir, in the southern part of old Serbia. Monastir is about 80 miles northwest of Salonika.

ALLIES REFUSE TO QUIT ASIA MINOR

Constantinople, April 20. (By International News Service.) — The Allied commissioners have sent a note to Turkey in which it is understood they refuse to order evacuation of Asia Minor until Turkey accepts conditions of peace as laid down by the Allies.

GUN THIEVES TRAPPED IN WEST END

Trapped in the hallway of a Norman street house in the West End after a chase by three policemen today Andio Dellolio, of Warren street, Cambridge, and Joseph Perponti of Bedford street, Somerville, were given jail terms in Municipal Court for stealing a revolver.

Patrolmen McCarthy, Donovan and Butler, of the Joy street station, who are making a roundup of alleged West End gunmen, were on Green street when they saw the two defendants in Jacob Snyder's pawn shop. As they watched the pair they claim they copied one of them stole a revolver from a case.

As the officers moved to enter the shop the two men made a bolt for the door, broke through the arms of the policemen and fled. A long chase followed, ending in the Norman street house.

A revolver was found on the floor where the men were crouching. Dellolio got six months for carrying a pistol and an extra month for theft. Perponti was sentenced to a month on the theft charge. Both appealed.

NEVADA WILL REPEAL ITS LETHAL GAS LAW

Carson City, Nevada, April 20.—Repeal of the measure providing for the use of lethal gas for the execution of murderers will come before the next State Legislature, according to State officials. It is held that the unusual law has brought the State much unfavorable publicity and defeated the ends it was intended to serve. An appeal from the sentence of death imposed on two Chinese prisoners is pending, and until that decision is rendered nothing will be done toward providing the lethal chamber.

O'BRIEN WARS ON SELLERS OF BAD FOOD

By BERT FORD.

War on violators of pure food laws was declared today by District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, following new charges by Patrolman George H. McCaffrey, who has been transferred to Roxbury Crossing station after having served ten years in Boston Health Department.

Mr. O'Brien said he is considering appointment of Patrolman McCaffrey to his office staff to handle cases of food infractions. He said he heartily agreed with the women of the Housekeepers' League that officer McCaffrey's charges should be sifted to the bottom and that transgressors of food laws be rounded up and prosecuted.

LEAGUE TO MEET.

Aroused by the McCaffrey revelations, Mrs. Ida M. Hebbard, president, has called a meeting of the Housekeepers' League for next Friday in order to make formal demand on the Board of Health for a full investigation, and to request Mayor Curley to appoint a woman on the health board in the interest of housekeepers and the public at large.

"I don't know whether Mr. McCaffrey's transfer was a political move, but I do know that it was a poor move and one that should not have been made," said Mrs. Hebbard. "The Boston Health Department needs men like Mr. McCaffrey who are not afraid to go after storekeepers and others who sell rotten food."

O'BRIEN AROUSED.

District Attorney O'Brien said:

"I have had a talk with Officer McCaffrey. I am not a stranger to some of these conditions. As Public Institutions Commissioner I had experience with certain dealers who tried to dump impure food into Long Island and other institutions. I am interested in the welfare of the poor, whether in institutions or outside. I think public health a vital matter.

"I stand ready to prosecute any and all cases of food violations brought to my attention. I am considering adding Mr. McCaffrey to my office staff to investigate such cases as come within my jurisdiction. I intend to confer with the police department about it as early as possible. Mr. McCaffrey is an honest and efficient officer.

NEW DISCLOSURES.

"I am interested in lowering the price of food and in sustaining the highest food standards. Transgressors should be punished."

Patrolman McCaffrey made many new revelations today to the Boston American. He said

"State and Federal health officials do not co-operate with the Boston health authorities as they should. State inspectors are honest and willing, as are our city inspectors, but they are often afraid to act because of the attitude of superiors and outside influences.

"Under the new administration it offenders happen to have political pull eyes are blinked at them.

COLD STORAGE MENACE.

"Thanks to years of hard work Boston's food conditions have been vastly improved and many evils have been remedied. But there is still grave menace in traffic in bob-veal, tubercular cattle and decayed eggs.

"Cold storage conditions must also be watched. Local dealers long had a habit of flooding the market with unfit turkeys and chickens during the rush that marked the days before Thanksgiving and Christmas, with the result that processions of complainants would storm Boston Health Department after these holidays to complain about the birds they bought.

DEAD LOBSTERS SOLD.

"We seized tons of turkeys and chickens that had been in cold storage five and six years when the legal limit in twelve months. Many of the turkeys and chickens were not fit for dogs to eat.

"The dead lobster traffic was vicious, but that was cleaned up pretty well. Dead lobsters were treated and sold for banquets and such affairs which accounted for many cases of ptomaine poisoning. We seized a vessel loaded with dead lobsters one day. A favorite trick to deceive housewives with lobsters sold by pedlars was concealing rubber bands to give limp tails a snap to make them appear fresh.

MILLIONS OF CONES BAD.

"The Boston Health Department under Drs. Woodward and Mullowney confiscated millions of gross of ice cream cones which had been made with rancid oil, which mixed with ice cream made many children ill before the evil was detected.

"We seized large quantities of wormy grapes used chiefly for wine. We stopped the practice of soaking oysters, so that a quart really contained but a pint, customers being charged full measure. That trick is in vogue today, but far from as general as when our department took in hand.

BAD FISH EVIL.

"Bad fish is one of the greatest evils. The Boston market is pretty well regulated in this respect now, thanks to discovery of a basket of bad mackerel consigned to Buffalo, which ripped wide the traffic in decayed fish and resulted in a nine-months' inquiry and the destruction of hundreds of tons.

"Immature fruit is another health menace. We found fruit consignments which had been artificially ripened developing an acid injurious to digestive organs.

"We seized large quantities of wormy walnuts that had been shelled for use in candy, cake and college lots.

PAINTED SALMON.

"Candy standards have to be watched.

"We found certain concerns painting bad salmon which had long passed the food stage. We found sausage makers using bad meat and tinting it with a chemical to brighten it and others using one-quarter meat and three-quarters cereal in violation of the law.

"We found bobb veal, a day or two old, that had been inflated by compressed air tubes at the abattoir in order to give the appearance of age and fleshiness and such purchases shrunk when housewives started to cook them.

"We found a dealer in East Boston with a horse carcass intended for sale as beef. Tubercular cattle are daily admitted in Boston for consumption. This is one of the most vicious and stubborn evils."

CARDINAL O'CONNELL TO ARRIVE SATURDAY

New York, April 20.—A wireless from the White Star liner Arabic, homeward bound from Naples, to the Boston American, says Cardinal O'Connell and suite will dock at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Vice-Chancellor Charles J. Sullivan, together with Mgr. Joseph F. McGlinchey, diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, Mgr. John B. Peterson, rector of St. John's Ecclesiastical Seminary, Brighton, are here to convey the welcome that precedes the reception by the League of Catholic Women that awaits the cardinal on his arrival in Boston.

office at Connel street and Parnell square.

Firing of considerable intensity, accompanied by bomb explosions was heard in the neighborhood of King's Inn, garrisoned by troops acting under the authority of the General Headquarters of the Irish Republican Army, but it is not known whether the building was attacked.

Armored cars later patrolled the centre of the city, and everybody on the streets were searched. A party of men in an open motor car speeded up when challenged by troops in an armored car, and were pursued and fired upon by the military.

A statement from official sources says that Brigadier-General Slattery and a party of men in uniform in a car were fired upon near O'Connell Bridge at about 11:30 o'clock last night. The car was riddled with bullets and one of the passengers wounded, later being conveyed to the hospital.

Later another party of regulars conveyed a priest to the hospital in a motor car, escorting him in an armored automobile because of the dangerous conditions of the streets.

Eight Killed in New Belfast Disorders

Belfast, April 20 (By the Associated Press.)—Sniping was renewed today in the Short Strand. Mary Keenan, who was shot yesterday, died today, bringing the death roll since Tuesday to eight, of whom four well killed in last night's disorders.

There was shooting today at Cullingtree road and Northumberland street.

going to take her to supper.' I stayed a little while and then left.

"I met the girl and took her to a Washington street Chinese-American restaurant. We stayed there about an hour after eating. Then I put her into a taxicab and sent her home. I returned to No. 145 Harrison avenue, ate some fruit with Dunn and Lock, and left to catch the 10:45 train back to Providence."

PROBING STORY.

The police are investigating Jow's story and have questioned Lock to find out if Dunn wanted to see Jow and why. They want to determine if there was any trade war at the bottom of a feud involving Providence, New York and Boston interests, or if the girl Jow came up to meet, said to have been known as the pet of certain young aristocrats Chinese, was at the bottom of Dunn's murder.

That Chinese of Dunn's circle would have resented attentions of a man considered of lower caste toward a white girl acquaintance is certain.

It is on the theory Dunn and Jow had words on Monday night that police are now bending their efforts.

Detectives combed Chinatown for witnesses who may have overheard a quarrel in the York Quon Educational Society, at No. 145 Harrison avenue, of which Dunn was president, and where he lived.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Today in Municipal Court Ang Lock, Dunn's roommate, was arraigned, charged with murder, and held without bail.

Three other young Chinese arrested in the association's rooms, where they were found indifferently pattering back and forth past the door of Dunn's room, where he lay groaning and gasping out his life, were held as material witnesses and their bail set at $5,000 each.

Lock will come up for trial on May 1.

AMERICAN WOOLEN CO. FLOODED WITH ORDERS

New York, April 20 (By International News Service).—1922 will be the greatest overcoating season ever known in this country, declared President Wood of the American Woolen Company in an address on the outlook for woolens and worsted goods today. "Our woolen departments have been inundated with orders, a large value of which will be impossible for us to accept," President Wood declared. He predicted higher prices than those now prevailing.

$280,000 MORE FOR NEPONSET BRIDGE

An appropriation of $280,000 to complete the Neponset Bridge between Dorchester and Quincy, was today recommended to the Senate Ways and Means Committee by representatives of the city of Boston, city of Quincy and the Metropolitan District Commission. This sum would make $740,000 available for a masonry arch bridge and for the payment of land damages.

MILL PICKETS ROUTED BY R. I. POLICE

Several Carry Clubs When They Go On Duty at Plant In Pawtucket

Pawtucket, R. I., April 20.—Strike pickets who tried to reach the gates of the Jenckes Spinning Company in defiance of the picketing regulations were forced back today by a "flying squadron" of police.

Several of the pickets at the plant of the Crown Manufacturing Company carried clubs when they went on duty today. Judge Tuck in Municipal Court recently told strike sympathizers that he knew of no rule prohibiting the carrying of weapons openly.

A deputy sheriff at the Jenckes plant, however, took a club from a picket before that mill.

Four men were arrested last night after nine windows had been broken in a house occupied by mill workers.

Organizer John J. Thomas of the United Textile Workers stated today that a special meeting of the Central Trades and Labor Council would be held tonight to consider a proposal to ask Governor Sam Souci to proclaim martial law in the Blackstone Valley.

Mr. Thomas alleges strikers are being assaulted and deprived of clubs with which they would defend themselves and that they are being searched for guns and other weapons by workers and also assaulted.

Amoskeag Strikers Will Lose Positions

Manchester, N. H., April 20.—More than 700 machinists and workers in allied trades are affected by the announcement made today by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company that, upon the reopening of its mills here, the company will discontinue its policy of constructing machines and parts for the repair of its machines in its own shops.

Less than one-third of the 1,100 men formerly employed in the shops will be able to return to their jobs, the announcement says.

The fact that the same work may be done more economically outside the mill was given as the reason for the change in policy.

No Compromise in Strike, Says McMahon

Lawrence, April 20.—"There will be no compromise on the part of the United Textile Workers on strike in cities throughout New England," declared Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers' Union, here today.

"We are preparing for a long battle," said Mr. McMahon, "but we hope something may yet happen to make it short."

The one big union today opened a soup kitchen in the France-Belgium Hall. A considerable number sought relief.

Southern mill labor is fully as efficient, works longer hours and is paid less than similar labor in New England, according to a statement made before the Rotary Club today by Edwin Farnum Greene, Pacific Mills treasurer.

Mr. Greene warned his hearers that "unless something is done and done speedily to equalize these disadvantages under which New England mills are working the textile industry may find itself in the same plight as history shows Massachusetts shipping, steel works, bicycle manufacture and even the iron industry have found themselves in times past."

ROXBURY SOCIETIES ASK MEMORIAL PARK

Mayor Curley was urged today by members of the Rose Croix Commandery of the Knights of Columbus and many other Roxbury societies to use his influence to have the city take the property in the triangle plot bounded by Warren and Dudley streets and Harrison avenue, Roxbury, for a public park and also a memorial to World War veterans of the Mount Pleasant and Elm Hill districts. Mayor Curley told the committee that the borrowing capacity of the city was reduced to a little below $700,000 and the greater part of that sum was needed for projects already under way. He suggested that perhaps the plot of land could be used for a health unit. Money from the George R. White fund would be available for it in that event.

LOMASNEY OPPOSES JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Declaring that there already is too much "gownand wig formality," Representative Martin M. Lomasney today vigorously opposed the bill of the Massachusetts Bar Association to establish a judicial council with authority to report changes in court procedure. "It is unwise to vest any such authority in any group that is not elected by the people," Lomasney said to the House Ways and Means Committee.

THREE WHISKIES A DAY H. K. WHITE'S RATION, NURSE TESTIFIES

WITNESS IN SUIT BY WIFE

Denies She Was Ordered to Keep Patient Sober During Illness

Three drinks of whiskey a day and "more if he felt weak" was the ration of liquor allowed Harry K. White, former member of the banking firm of Lee, Higginson & Company, according to Mrs. Minnie Sprague, trained nurse, testifying in the East Cambridge Probate Court today at the resumption of the hearing of the separate support suit brought by Mrs. Nora White.

"That was the doctor's order," said the witness, who denied that one of her jobs was to "keep her patient sober."

At the conclusion of her testimony the defence rested, and the attorney for the plaintiff announced that a few additional witnesses would be called.

At the opening of the hearing today Alice Bancroft, housekeeper for White at the Pepperell home of the banker, told of the visits of a Mrs. Chapin at the White home. The witness denied that anything in White's conduct with Mrs. Chapin had attracted her attention or caused her to comment on it. She denied she had seen White drinking cocktails with Mrs. Chapin, or that the latter had ever stayed in the house in the absence of Mrs. White.

She told of a visit paid to the house by Mrs. White in which Mrs. White insisted upon removing "every single thing here that has my name on it."

WIFE A WITNESS.

On direct examination, Mrs. Nora White testified that her husband complained so of his nervousness that she was afraid he might jump out of the window.

"Our family physician told me when anyone agreed with Mr. White, he thought him to be a good fellow, but if a person held another opinion, he thought he was a darn fool," she testified.

Mrs. Louise White, a daughter of Harry K. White, testified that she always had breakfast with her father, and that her lateness for the meal was because she practiced her music lesson one hour every morning.

Joseph S. Galland, a chauffeur, testified he drove Mr. White and a woman to Wareham on one occasion. Mr. White left him in Wareham and drove the car with the woman to Buzzards Bay, returning that afternoon. He also testified of another trip to Pepperell, where he drove Mr. White to his home and the woman to hers. He did not know her name. Under cross-examination, he admitted the woman's father was in a car following the White car.

Bert Bancroft of Middleton testified to seeing Mr. White and Miss Catherine Fitch in an auto on Park street, Pepperell.

Mrs. Nellie Flynn, a former employee at the Pepperell home of the Whites, testified that Miss Fitch used to visit Mr. White three times a week, spending an hour or more with him alone in the library.

Plan for An Auto

Putting a good automobile through its paces is an exhilarating and life-giving sport, and it's not a sport "for the other fellow"—it is FOR YOU.

It's your duty to yourself to ENJOY THINGS, and because automobiling is the maximum pleasure-giver of this age, of which you are a part, your should own an automobile now.

One is not expensive, either, when a good used car can be bought as reasonably through the "Automobile Exchange" columns in the Want Ad pages of

Boston Nurse Sailed on Liner Algeria for England

SHIP LATE AFTER WOMAN RACES 6,000 MILES

Racing 6,000 miles by steamship and fast express trains to catch the Cunard-Anchor Line Steamship Algeria, scheduled to sail from Boston April 18, arriving here on the 19th, thinking the boat had gone without her, only to find that the vessel had been delayed two days in her sailing and that she had twenty-four hours to wait, was the experience of Mrs. Lizzie Calder of Honolulu, who sailed with her nine-year-old son on the liner today.

Mrs. Calder is going to Dundee, Scotland, to settle an estate.

The Algeria sailed for Londonderry, Glasgow and Liverpool with 610 saloon passengers and 125 steerage, nearly all of whom will disembark at Irish and Scotch ports. The sailing had a somewhat religious aspect, due to the presence of a number of Cowley fathers at the pier and prayer and song service on the pier by members of the Centre street, Jamaica Plain, Baptist Church.

Fr. Granville M. Williams, Fr. Walter P. Morse and Brother Patrick H. Lane of the Church of St. John the Evangelist in the West End sailed for Cowley, near Oxford, where they will spend a Summer in the Home House of their order. Other Cowley fathers were present to see them off.

Mrs. Margaret Bar, a prominent worker in the Jamaica Plain church, sailed for Belfast to visit her aged mother. Others sailing were: Mrs. Doris H. Geehan, Cambridge war bride, who is going to Liverpool to visit her parents; Nurse Doris I. Davis of the Children's Hospital, who is going to London to teach American nursing methods.

The ship was delayed twenty-five minutes for a passenger who spent the night on the ship but came over to the city this morning to make some purchases. His taxi was caught in a ferry jam.

LYNN HEARING OF ANNE RUSLING IS POSTPONED

Anne Scott Rusling, "Back Bay Raffles," charged with the larceny of two diamond rings from Lynn jewelers, was granted a postponement when her case was called in Lynn Court today. Through an attorney she requested that trial be postponed until April 27. This was granted. Early next week she will face charges in the Superior Court of alleged larceny of diamond rings valued at $6,000 from Boston jewelers.

PORTUGUESE AVIATORS TO HAVE NEW AIRPLANE

Lisbon, April 20 (By the Associated Press).—A new hydro-airplane will be shipped by the government to St. Paul Rocks to enable the Naval Captains Sacadura and Coutinho to resume their trans-Atlantic flight. The new plane will bear the name "Portugal." It is believed here that it will be at least two weeks before the airmen can resume their flight to Rio Janeiro.

To Pick White Memorial

C. A. Coolidge of the Park Commission and Charles D. Maginnis of the Art commission have been chosen to report on a form of a memorial for George R. White, who left $5,000,000 to the city. The memorial is to be placed on Boston Common or the Public Garden.

DEATH THREAT RELATED AT PIERCE TRIAL

Charles S. Hill, master in a number of suits against the Watson Boss Conservatories and the Henry M. Wood Soda Company, was threatened with death by shooting because of a report he made concerning one Attorney W. Edwin Ulmer, it was testified today at the legislative hearing on a petition to remove Supreme Court Justice Edward P. Pierce for alleged official misconduct.

This testimony, coupled with evidence of an alleged remark by Judge Pierce to the effect that Mr. Hill's original report contained "enough to hang Mr. Ulmer or send him to jail for life," featured the day's session.

The judge passed this remark just before Mr. Hill had altered his original draft, according to Attorney Roger Sherman Warner, a witness for the petitioners.

"I met Mr. Hill in the Court House just before he changed his report," testified Mr. Warner. "He told me he had talked with Judge Pierce. He said the judge observed that there was enough in the report to hang, crucify or jail Mr. Ulmer for life."

The references to Mr. Ulmer were missing when Mr. Hill presented his final report on the master's hearings to the court.

THREAT TESTIMONY.

Testimony about the threat was brought up when Attorney George M. Poland, one of the petitioners for Judge Pierce's removal, introduced a letter he had written to Judge Jenney. In the letter Attorney Poland informed the judge that Mr. Hill had claimed some one had threatened to kill him because of findings he had made in regard to Attorney Ulmer's handling of the Wood estate.

Questioned about the alleged threat Mr. Hill said:

"The day after I completed my draft report on the cases over which I sat some one called me up on the telephone.

"It was a Sunday morning. I couldn't recognize the voice. I was told I was going to get a bullet through me because of the findings I had made against Mr. Ulmer."

The witness said the threat did not influence him in making the changes which later appeared in his final report.

MADE SUGGESTIONS.

He said he made these changes because he had found that they involved matters of law over which he had no right to pass.

The witness added that while the master's hearings were in progress Mr. Ulmer had made daily suggestions to him as to how to conduct matters. These suggestions were in typewriting, with penciled margins. All together they made about twenty-one pages of script.

Mr. Hill said one important change between his draft and final reports to each error of omission on the part of his stenographer. This was the omission of a paragraph which stated that the only evidence of fraud against Mr. Ulmer was "that which the court may find."

Mr. Hill said he had not noticed the omission of the paragraph until long after his final report had been submitted.

He said he had eliminated a line to the effect that Attorney Ulmer was "unfitted for his job because of reasons that we will later see" because the matter was covered in other parts of the report.

APPEARED SATISFIED.

He said that he had not tried to spare Mr. Ulmer in his findings and left out only such points as he believed the courts themselves should cover.

Asked if Attorney Poland was "satisfied" with the report he said: "Well he looked as if he was."

He said he had deleted one sentence regarding a $20,000 note held by Mr. Ulmer because the latter had objected to the "flavor of it." He said he explained this point in a new paragraph.

The witness was put through a stiff cross-examination over the changes by Attorney George M. Mayberry of counsel for Judge Pierce.

He admitted that under Mr. Ulmer's control the properties of the Wood estate had improved. He said that during the master's hearings Attorney Ulmer's attitude toward him was generally "belligerent."

NEW YORK CITY FACES SUIT FOR $30,000,000

New York, April 20.—Asking $30,000,000 damages because of the city's failure to construct transit tunnels called for under the dual subway contracts, Lindley M. Garrison, receiver for the New York Municipal Railway Corporation and the New York Consolidated Railroad Company, today filed a bill in equity against the city in Federal Court.

Wealthy Wooer Sought After Boston Beauty Takes Poison

Helen Lee Worthing, "queen of 10,000 beauties," lies in the Bellevue Hospital, New York, a victim of bichloride of mercury poisoning, self-administered.

The blonde chorus girl, who rose from the humble position of pianist in a moving picture house, to universal acclaim as the pure American blonde, through successive newspaper and magazine prize contests, may live. But it will take days to reach the crisis.

"Jack" is said to be the contributory cause of it.

"Jack" was the dashing spender who lured her from the Massachusetts avenue residence of her father, Richard F. Worthen, Boston broker, and from the protection of her former husband, Charles J. McDonald, Chicago hotel man.

Then "Jack," according to family belief, is said to have gone his wilful, wanton way to charm new faces.

"I am going to find this 'Jack,'" declared Mr. Wortham today. "I am going to employ counsel and investigate this matter to the bottom. I heard my daughter mention Jack's last name, but it has now slipped my memory."

"I have talked by telephone with my daughter's maid and landlady, and they tell me my daughter might have taken the poison by accident. I hope that is so."

LIVED ON BROADWAY.

Miss Worthing, since quitting Boston, earned the reputation of being the "Girl Who Lived on Broadway." She refused to go on the road with any show, no matter how much money or what position was offered her. When she went on the stage she changed her family name of Worthem to Worthing, for professional purposes.

Being the selection of Howard Chandler Christy, James Montgomery Flagg, David W. Griffith and Mary Pickford as the most beautiful woman in the United States, she did not have to wait for work at Broadway theatres. She scorned Hollywood's movies.

Her physical condition is such that she cannot speak for herself. Miss Worthing obtained her divorce from Charles J. McDonald last January so that she might be free to marry "Jack."

"Jack," a well-to-do New Yorker, is said to have pleaded with her to give up the stage and take an extended honeymoon trip with him through Europe this Summer. But she would not quit Broadway even for Jack. So Jack quit her.

Last week Miss Worthing and another "Midnight Frolic" girl, named Edna Wheaton, quarrelled in the theatre dressing rooms. Each had charged the other with having copied her clothes. Personalities led to fists. The girls, bruised and bleeding, were forcibly separated by other members of the company.

Miss Worthing found herself the centre of considerable notoriety. This say her friends, hurt her deeply.

Some who know her when she lived at No. 1013 Beacon street, Brookline, suspect that she has been brooding over her treatment of the man whom she divorced a few months ago.

"Five or six years ago," said a friend, "Helen Worthing was playing the piano in a cheap movie house in Louisville. McDonald, who was in fairly comfortable circumstances financially, met her while he was traveling through the South. He was attracted by her beauty, fell in love with her, and shortly married her. Then they came here to make their home.

"There wasn't anything that McDonald didn't do for her. He worshipped her, and he gave her everything that Lis money would buy. Some of his friends, I remember, remonstrated with him for spending so much money on her, but he paid no attention to them.

DISLIKED MARRIED LIFE.

"Helen didn't take kindly to married life, however. She wanted to be free, to be able to go about without any home ties or responsibilities to hold her. She grew restive and impatient.

"Then her picture was sent by a local photographer to one of those moving picture magazine beauty contests. The judges decided that she was the most beautiful girl in America, and thus she got her chance to go on the stage.

"McDonald always loved her. But she finally wanted a divorce and she kept after him until he agreed to let her sue him without contest, on the grounds of cruelty. We saw their home life first hand. He wasn't cruel. But he let her get the decree."

Declaring that he will "move heaven and earth" to find "Jack," his daughter's sweetheart, Richard F. Wortham last night announced that he would leave Atlanta for New York to join his daughter.

"In a telephone conversation with Helen's landlady and ice maid, they told me that it was wholly through accident she took the poison. I hope to God it was, but I will join my little girl and find the true story from her."

"Helen met this man but fall while she was the wife of Charles J. McDonald, who knew her almost since she was a child in Louisville. 'Jack' and my daughter grew to know each other well, and he proposed to marry her if she became divorced from her husband. She obtained a divorce from her husband on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

"She was to marry the other man in June, when the divorce decree became absolute.

U. S. ENVOY HOUGHTON ARRIVES IN BERLIN

Berlin, April 20 (By the Associated Press).—Alanson B. Houghton, new American Ambassador, arrived in Berlin today to take up his official duties. He was met at the station by the entire staff of the embassy, led by Richard R. Ramsdell, first secretary, with Lieutenant-Colonel Creed F. Cox, military observer, and Councillor von Dueltich of the German Foreign Office.

TEMPERATURE SLUMP EXPECTED FOR TONIGHT

Beginning tonight and continuing Friday, fair weather will be on the schedule, with slowly rising temperature, for the next day or two. It will be colder tonight, however, and possibly as low as 45, advancing to around 50 tomorrow. Light local snows were falling today at Greenville, Maine, Burlington, Vt., and Canton, N. Y.

ROBBED OF $600 BY 3 BANDITS IN MALDEN

Masked Trio Hold Up Owner of Jitney Line in Yard of His Home

Joseph Hart, fifty years old, owner of a jitney bus line, was held up by three armed and masked bandits in the yard of his home, No. 443 Salem street, Malden, today, and robbed of $600 at the point of leveled pistols. The bandits escaped.

Hart was on his way home with the day's receipts when the trio sprang from a clump of bushes and surrounded him. All covered him with automatics.

"Hands up," commanded one, "and be quick. No fooling or we'll shoot."

Hart struck out with one hand for the nearest bandit. Instantly the leader of the trio opened fire. Two shots whistled close to Hart's head.

THREW HIM TO GROUND.

At the same time the other two men grappled with Hart and threw him to the ground. One thrust a handkerchief into his mouth while the other quickly searched his pockets. Most of the money was found in a purse. The rest was in smaller bills in his trouser pockets.

Meanwhile the sound of the two shots had attracted the attention of Patrolman Murphy and John Buckley, a druggist, who were standing in Maplewood Square, a short distance away.

The officer and the druggist came rushing into view just as the bandits completed search of Hart's pockets.

With a few parting kicks and a threatening flourish of their revolvers the trio fled. They darted through a back yard and down a lonely stretch of road that leads to Sand Hill Reverse marshes.

MARSHES SEARCHED.

With the appearance of the patrolman and Buckley, Hart ran into the house, got a revolver and joined them in a chase after the fugitives.

The officer fired a volley of shots into the air and attracted the attention of other patrolmen. A systematic search of the marshes followed, but without result.

Hart described the three men as being of medium height and well dressed. He believes they were foreigners.

REPORT AMERICAN KILLED IN SAMARA

London, April 20.—A Central News dispatch from Copenhagen today quoted the Berlingske Tidende as printing a statement from Orel that a report had reached there of the killing of a leader of the American relief expedition in the Samara district in Russia. His body was eaten by starving Russians, according to the despatch.

New York, April 20.—Reports of the killing of an American relief worker in Samara were branded as propaganda against the American relief administration by an official of that organization here today. Conditions in Samara district are better than in any other part of Russia, the official said.

2-YEAR-OLD BOY SHOOTS SELF WITH RIFLE

Bridgeton, N. J., April 20.—Alexander Talazona, two years old, is dying in a hospital today with self-inflicted wounds after shooting himself with his father's rifle. The weapon had been left standing beside the house by the father said. Police authorities are puzzled as to how the boy was able to discharge it.

ATTORNEYS FOR DODGE DEMAND NEW TRIAL

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 20.—Attorneys for John Duval Dodge, youthful Detroit millionaire convicted of illegally possessing liquor, announced today they would move for a new trial. They contend that officers who searched Dodge's automobile after the arrest acted without a warrant.

DANCER KOSLOFF GETS BLACK HAND LETTER

Los Angeles, April 20.—Postal authorities today were investigating a letter sent to Theodore Kosloff, dancer, demanding $10,000 under threat of death. The letter specified a place where the money was to be left. Kosloff, instead, purchased a pistol. The letter also said a similar demand and threat had been sent to Mabel Normand.

POSTHUMOUS AWARD FOR AMERICAN FLIER

Paris, April 20.—The order of the Legion of Honor has been conferred posthumously on Sergeant Kiffen Yates Rockwell, a members of the Franco-American Flying Corps, who was killed in action September 23, 1916. He was the second American flier to be killed in action in the World War.

FAIL TO ACT ON ZIMMERMAN PARDON

Members of Council to Take Up Girl Slayer's Case Next Week

The Pardons Committee, through an oversight, failed today to submit a report to the full Governor's Council at the state House and the expected grant of freedom to Jennie Zimmerman, now in Northampton State Hospital, failed to materialize.

Action now goes over until Wednesday next when the council meets again.

He was surprised when Councillor Francis W. Aldrich of West Springfield, representing the district the Zimmerman girl comes from, said he would not press or demand action at today's meeting.

"Well," said Councillor Smith, "if the councillor representing the girl's district does not demand action I withdraw my request."

Previous to the meeting it was understood Jennie Zimmerman would ask for a pardon or at least today a free woman for the first time in almost three years.

She was found guilty of murder of her cousin, Dr. Zimmerman, but declared insane.

At a hearing before the Governor's Council a week ago witnesses testified that she was sane and should be freed.

2 WHO CANNED CANS "CANNED"

Exit the "great ash can mystery."

Police of the South End believe the case is solved in the arrest of Joseph Cox and William Thompson, gentlemen of no permanent address.

It was the sixth barrel to disappear in the district within the past two weeks.

Police officers testified to seeing Joe and Williams approach the barrel, dump its contents on the sidewalk and then start off with the can on their shoulders.

Wherever they were promptly "canned." Today they were "canned" again—this time for one month each.

Police say the ash can thieves were selling their loot to tin moonshiners.

GOODRICH, FITCHBURG'S OLDEST NATIVE, DIES

Fitchburg, April 20.—Henry A. Goodrich, 91 years old, the oldest native of Fitchburg, died today. He was for many years the leading clothing merchant here. He was the last representative to the Legislature from Fitchburg as a town in 1870 and 1871.

LINER CRIPPLED 800 MILES OFF HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., April 20.—The Leyland liner Oxonian, Captain M. J. Varey, bound from Portland, Me., to Liverpool, is in distress 800 miles southwest of Halifax.

The Winifredian of the same line is proceeding to her assistance, according to a wireless message received here today from the United States cutter Seneca.

The message said the Oxonian was in latitude 40:42 north and longitude 48:33 west with her rudder stock broken.

The Oxonian is a freighter of 6,353 gross tons. The Winifredian is bound from Boston to Liverpool.

Hays to Stand Pat on Arbuckle Decision

New York, April 20.—Will Hays, head of the motion picture industry, intends to enforce his ruling that no pictures in which Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle has appeared will be seen on the American screen.

"There will be no further arguments; there will be no further explanatory statements in this matter," was the announcement made from Mr. Hays' office today. "Mr. Hays has made his decision and has nothing to add to his announcement."

Mr. Hays is conducting an investigation into the general problem of film morals. The investigation is expected to last several months, at the conclusion of which Mr. Hays is expected to announce the position of the film industry towards the whole question.

FANS DIVIDED ON ARBUCKLE COME-BACK

Should "Fatty" Arbuckle come back?

Letters are pouring into the office of the Film Editor in answer to the question the Boston American has asked to test the pulse of the movie fans.

"By all means let the 'Fatty' Arbuckle pictures come back," reads a letter signed by four Charlestown women, Mrs. Julia Sallinger, Mrs. L. Eliane, Helen J. Hennessy and Margaret Hennessy. "He worked hard that the world might laugh and drive away many a sorrow and fear. He was truly vindicated."

"A thousand times no, I don't want ever to see Mr. Arbuckle again," writes one who signs herself "Yours for love of children," Mary Wrenn. "The courts found him innocent, but what pure-uplifting thought could anyone have looking at that horrible man."

"I am one of the movie fans that would like very much to have Mr. Arbuckle's pictures shown at our theatres. Why should the public put him down?" reads a letter from Somerville signed "A Movie Fan." "He was found innocent. Why should the public judge him?"

Another letter from Roxbury signed "W. F. M." reads "In regard to the Arbuckle pictures, I think the Boston public should be broadminded enough to help Mr. Arbuckle come back."

A Providence writer strongly urges that Arbuckle pictures be shown again, while from Boston comes a letter signed by seven persons, reading: "We, the undersigned, do not want to see 'Fatty' Arbuckle appear in moving pictures in Boston."

What do you say about it, READER?

Let us have your opinion.

Should "Fatty" screen a comeback?

Write the FILM EDITOR, Boston American.

NAVY ANNOUNCES NEW RADIO AMPLIFIER

Washington, April 20.—Secretary Denby announces that the Navy Department has arrived at a successful design of a universal amplifier for radio communication. Heretofore amplifiers obtainable would only amplify incoming signals over a narrow band of wave lengths, but now Dr. J. M. Miller of the navy radio research laboratory has constructed one that will receive from several hundred meters to nearly 20,000 meters.

HARDING TIRED OF DODGING ON BONUS

Warns Congress He Will Veto Any Bill Not Carrying Payment Plan

By Universal Service.

Washington, April 20.—President Harding again served notice on Congress that no "phony" legislation on the Soldier Bonus question will be tolerated. The certificate plan adopted in the House bill will be vetoed if passed by the Senate, as will any other measure that attempts to dispose of the bonus without providing the money with which ot pay it, the President made plain.

To Senator Watson of Indiana, who visited the White House for the purpose of discussing the subject of the bonus, the President expressed strong disapproval of the shilly shally policy pursued by the Senate and House in meeting the bonus problem. The President said he was getting extremely tired of explaining to Congress that he will consider no bonus measure as genuine unless it provides the method by which the money is to be raised.

Discussing methods of raising the money for the bonus, the President once more declared that in his opinion the only reasonable method to be followed was by the passage of a sales tax measure.

Senator Watson suggested that enactment of the bonus measure might be deferred until June, by which time, he stated, the treasury expects to have on hand about $4,000,000,000 of bonds accruing from interest on the British debt.

The President declined to give any encouragement to such a plan, for the reason that the acquisition of such a fund is too uncertain and too far in the future to be considered at this time in connection with the debt to the service men.

JAP FLYERS MAKE ATTACK ON SOVIET

London, April 20.—(By International News Service.)—Members of the Russian trade delegation declared here today that Japanese troops had attacked Soviet troops in Chita, dropping bombs on them from airplanes.

301ST INFANTRY IS TO MEET SATURDAY

The 301st Infantry Association will hold its annual reunion and meeting Saturday night, at the Commonwealth avenue armory. A splendid program has been arranged, and many military and State officials expected. Last year the reunion was attended by more than 2,000.

Daugherty May Cut Prices, but His Own? Help!

By International News Service.

Washington, April 20.—The Department of Justice, whose investigations into the high prices, etc., occasionally shock business, has appealed to Congress to save it from having its rent increased from $36,000 a year to $300,000.

The department pays $36,000 annual rent and the owners have asked for $3 a square foot, or about $300,000 a year.

"The department has appealed to me as chairman of the Building Commission to know what to do," said Senator Smoot today. "I told them we would recommend an increase to $75,000 and if the owners of the building get more they will have to sue the government."

Training Camp Blanks Ready

Application blanks for the civilian military training camp to be held at Camp Devens in August may be procured at the headquarters of the association, Room 316, No. 84 State street.

$12,000,000 IN NEW BUILDING IN STATE

Plans for new buildings amounting to more than $12,000,000 were made in thirty-four cities of the State last month, according to the returns received today by the State Department of Labor and Industries.

The plans represent the magnificent increase of $6,000,000 or 117 per cent., over March a year ago and $2,300,000, or 24 per cent., over February of this year.

So encouraging are the signs that the department issued a statement, saying:

"Should all the building for which permits have been granted be actually undertaken, it appears probable that there will be ample employment for all building tradesmen in the State in the very near future."

MATZENAUER'S HUSBAND TO FILE SUIT

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, April 20.—Floyd Glotzbach will file suit for divorce from Madame Margaret Matzenauer, opera singer, in Superior Court here today, according to J. Maxwell Peyser, his attorney.

Glotzbach asserted that his return to his Pacific coast home and his former occupation of chauffeur a month ago was "because he was no lady's maid."

He stated that the opera singer was "an orchid" and he was "wild mustard," and that the two did not make a good "domestic bouquet."

After the separation and a stormy exchange of interviews, Madame Matzenauer, then in St. Louis, announced her intention of seeking a divorce.

Standing or walking—

there is no escape

EVERYWHERE the same unyielding hardness underfoot. Just standing is a strain—every step is a jolt. Never was the need of a heel that gives real protection as great as it is today.

The price of O'Sullivan's Safety Cushion Heels to you is generally the same as the price of ordinary heels, in spite of the fact that they cost the repairman more.

The repairman has two reasons for accepting this smaller profit—first, because O'Sullivan's always make satisfied customers; second, because the good will of these customers builds bigger business for him.

Ask for O'Sullivan's when you leave your shoes—see that they are attached.

SINGER SEEKS MAN'S LOVE, NOT GOLD

By ERNEST T. JENKINS

Mme. Mimi Constantineau, Boston prima donna, who has sued Louis K. Marr, assistant superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, for $150,000, alleging breach of promise to marry and non-support, indicated today that she wished to drop her action.

"I do not want money," she said. "I was offered a settlement—a miserable settlement. But money will not pay for the anguish and humiliation in my heart.

"For ten years Mr. Marr occupied the position of a husband to me, the head of my house, the father of my sons. I want him back. I gave up my career in opera at his request. I had devoted all the years of my youth to preparation for that career. I gave up the last ten years to home making.

"My friends cannot understand the disaster of the past few months. However, if Mr. Marr can change suddenly because a new woman crosses the horizon I must go on with my suit to the bitter end."

FRIENDS BACK HER.

Mrs. Marr's friends and her sons, Floribert and Ferreo, champion the mother. They hold the absence of a civil ceremony, impossible in the case of Mr. Marr and Mme. Constantineau, to constitute a misfortune, but not a blot.

Ferreo, the youngest son, said:

"Mother and Mr. Marr, for whom we have always had the greatest love and respect, practised no deception upon us. We knew the conditions, and realized the great love they held for each other. We also knew that for years conditions were such that Mr. Marr could not legally marry my mother. But we did expect that when he was free, he would do so.

"He stopped her concert singing. She loved him, believed his promise to marry her, and sacrificed her career. I was a 'kid' in knee pants in New York when he was presented to me as my father.

SLURRED BY LAWYER.

March 23 last, Ferreo wrote Mr. Marr, requesting that he return to them. His mother, as now, was in a highly nervous condition as a result of the estrangement. The son received the following letter:

New York, April 4, 1922.

"Dear Buds—I have your letter of a few days ago. Very glad to hear from you.

"I cannot discuss the subject you refer to.

"With kind regards and best wishes, Yours truly,

"L. K. MARR."

"Mother didn't want a lawyer or any financial settlement from him," Ferreo said. "She wanted Marr to do the right thing.

"She went to New York and saw Mr. Marr and his attorney in the latter's office. And there the attorney called her 'a woman of variety.'" The son's eyes flashed fire.

"The lawyer wanted Mother to sign papers effecting a cash settlement, with the stipulation that she remain away from his office and those of his superior officers. Mother refused the settlement."

JACKSON GIRL FRACTURES HER SKULL

While walking in her sleep, Elizabeth, twelve-year-old daughter of State Treasurer James Jackson, fell from the second story of the Jackson home, No. 90 Beacon street, and sustained a fracture of the skull.

The accident, which occurred some time Tuesday night, was not made public until today. The child was unconscious when found by servants and has been unconscious ever since at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Her condition is critical.

Honest Man Gives Blank Check to "Honest" Bandits

Chicago, April 20.—Edward P. Morse, an attorney, described himself as the honest victim of honest bandits.

He and his wife, while automobile riding were held up by two robbers, who stripped the wedding ring from his wife's finger.

Mr. Morse bargained with the bandits for the return of the ring. They agreed to return it for $100. Mr. Morse offered a signed blank check which they agreed to accept and fill in for $100.

The cancelled check has come back.

READY TO GIN CONVERSION OF DUT

Washington, April 20.—Allied governments to which limited $8 billion states extended loans duri the World War have been advisby the State Department that theiercans Debt Refunding Commise is prepared to begin negotiationsr conversion of the various loan mountiwg to $11,000,000,000, into ne securities.

New York, April 20.—New $2 municipal underwritings aggregating $40,000,000 were publicfered awaa immediately oversubscribed today. An international banking house acted on additional $10,000,000 Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railroad 6 per cent. bonds and a syndicate offering of $30,000,000 Sinclair Crude Oil three-year 7½ per cent notes was disposed of on country-wide participations.

New York, April 20.—A description of a fugitive from justice, broadcasted by wireless, aided materially in the capture of the alleged criminal, according to a report to police headquarters here today.

Chief of Police Williams of Denver telegraphed that Toraichi Soejima, a Japanese, had been arrested there for the murder here on April 8, of Ichi Maru, also a Japanese.

ADDITIONAL TAX LEVY FORESEEN BY TREASURY

Washington, April 20.—Levying of additional taxes probably will be necessary to meet the deficit of more than $350,000,000 forecast for the fiscal year of 1923 by Secretary Mellon, it was said today at the Treasury.

High officials of the Treasury said no consideration had yet been given to means of meeting the lack of funds, but it was apparent the deficit would probably have to be raised by taxation as the government "did not have anything to say."

BALL PLAYERS ROBBED WHILE IN PULLMAN

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20 (By International News Service).—Six players of the Kansas City American Association team were robbed of cash and valuables as the "Blue" special Pullman lay in the railroad yards here early today. Caldwell, Becker, Morris, Ames, Lutake, and Skiff lost cash ranging from $1.50 to $17. Lutake and Ames were robbed of valuable watches and Skiff lost a diamond. The night porter of the car was questioned by detectives.

Bulgarian Statement Confirms Position of Ex-Senator's Wife Here

Attorneys for Mrs. Grace B. Hollis indicated in a public statement today they are fully satisfied that the latest news from Bulgaria confirms their contention that Mrs. Hollis is still the legal wife of former Senator Henry French Hollis of New Hampshire.

Senator Hollis is still abroad, where he was married a month ago to a former Concord, N. H., girl while Mrs. Grace Hollis still believed him her husband. He then announced he had secured a divorce in the Ecclesiastical Courts of Bulgaria..

An official announcement was made Wednesday from the Bulgarian embassy in Washington that his decree was "irregular and illegal."

Attorney Edward K. Woodworth of Concord, a member of the firm which has been handling Mrs. Hollis' legal affairs, would not state whether Mrs. Hollis planning any further legal action.

"We have always believed that whatever may have been done in Bulgaria purporting to affect the rights of Mrs. Hollis as the lawful wife of the former Senator could have no validity outside of that country," he said. "It now appears that nothing has been done to affect her rights even in Bulgaria."

3 ON TRIAL AS WEST SPRINGFIELD BANDITS

How three men shot up a West Springfield sub-postoffice station in the presence of two screaming women and then robbed it while Irving A. Darling, the proprietor, and his son were forced to stand with upraised arms was told in Federal Court today when three West Springfield young men went on trial charged with robbery. They were Michael Morriarty, Edward J. O'Connor and John R. Ronaye.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY

Charity Functions Fill Calendar of the Smart Set

By BETTY ALDEN.

CHARITY functions of all sorts continue to monopolize the social calendar, but those who are running these benefit entertainments must be congratulated upon the variety of ways in which charity may be served. Musical shows, bazaars, recitals, elaborate balls, rummage sales, "movie" entertainments, fashion shows, cabarets and bridge parties—each and all serve their common purpose—to extract as much money as possible from as many pockets as possible with as little pain as possible. And often times the various charity affairs are so cleverly presented that there is no pain at all to the giving, but, on the contrary, a good deal of pleasure.

By giving a series of dances and bridge parties members of the smart set have succeeded in raising a neat little sum for the Frances Jewett Repertory Theatre. Tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock and again in the evening at 8 o'clock, two bridge parties will be given at the Copley Theatre to add still more to this sum.

Among the matrons who have sponsored the various affairs given during the past season for the Repertory Theatre are Mesdames Hugh Bancroft, S. Parker Bremer, Frederic R. Galacar, Malcolm Lang, Arthur V. Woodworth, Oakes Ames, Robert W. Atkinson, Jr., Gardner Bradley, Clarence V. Burrage, Benjamin P. Cheney, Pitt Dillingham, Eben S. Draper, George R. Fearing, Jr., Allan Forbes, J. Mott Hallowell, Reginald Heath, Francis L. Higginson, Arthur W. Hooper, Thorndike Howe, James Jackson, Henry P. King, Jr., Roger B. Merriman, George A. Sagendorph, Joseph Sargent, Charles Storrow, R. Clipston Sturgis, Charles W. Taintor, Ezra R. Thayer, Alden Thorndike, Richard Wheatland and Frederick S. Whitwell.

Boston society watches with more than a little interest the comings and goings and doings of Mrs. Grafton Minot (Constance Gardner), who has been spending the past Winter at her home in the capital on H street.

The granddaughter of Senator Lodge has taken a prominent part in the activities which revolve about Washington's official and social sets, and she has entertained on numerous occasions for the most distinguished of companies.

Apropos of her role as hostess, the former Constance Gardner was recently in the hostess group at a dance given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins at the home of Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt. Others who received with Mrs. Minot were Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Mrs. King Carley. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins are sailing today en route to Berlin, where Mr. Robbins has been appointed counsellor of the American Embassy.

Mrs. Minot spends her Summers at the North Shore, where her estate at Pride's Crossing, on Shore, where her estate at Pride's Crossing, on Shore Beach, is known as "The Alhambra." Her mother, Mrs. Augustus Peabody Gardner (Commodore Lodge) is also a member of the Summer colony at the Shore, her estate, called "Sagamore Farm," being in Hamilton.

Society is not without representation for the ball which the French Club of the Y. W. C. A. is giving this evening at the Copley-Plaza ballroom, for a host of well known names adorn the patroness list.

Preceding the dance there will be a concert and a sale of flowers and bonbons, groups of French girls, wearing the colors of their native country, are to be on hand as flower and bonbon vendors.

Among the prominent Boston matrons included in the patroness list are Mesdames George B. Dabney, George Richmond Fearing, Oakes Ames, Joseph S. Fay, Allan Forbes, Max Talbot, Richard K. Thorndike and William H. Robey.

The affair, which is in charge of the French Club, is being given in aid of the French orphans.

Miss Sullivan, daughter of the J. Amory Sullivans, is another attractive member of the cast for "Now and Then," the Vincent Club's much-heralded show. The first performance will be given Monday.

Random Notes of Society Folk in Town and Country

THE galleries surrounding the courts at White Sulphur Springs are filled to overflowing with society visitors who have come for the annual Spring tennis tournament, which opened on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton and Colonel Francis R. Appleton, Jr., who are prominent members of the North Shore Summer colony, have concluded their visit to "Appleton Farms," their Ipswich estate, and have returned to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bowen Sanderson have returned from Bermuda to their home in New York at No. 52 East Sixty-second street. On Saturday, April 29th, their son, Lloyd B. Sanderson, Jr., will be married to Miss Rosanna D. Fiske of Commonwealth avenue. The ceremony, which promises to be one of the season's most important, will be solemnized at Christ Church, Cambridge where three generations of Miss Fiske's family have been married. She is the daughter of the Charles H. Fiske of Commonwealth avenue.

A number of society folk are interesting themselves to the dinner to be given tonight at the University club under the auspices of the Boston branch of the American Waldensian Aid Society. Herbert Wade has come on from Philadelphia to speak of his "Tramps through Italy as an artist."

Arrangements are rapidly being perfected for the large supper and dance to be given on Monday evening from 10 until 3 o'clock in the big ballroom of the Copley-Plaza. The affair, which is in charge of a group of prominent society folk, is for the benefit of the South Boston Chapter of the disabled American veterans of the World War.

The Jacoby Club is to give a concert at the Copley-Plaza on Tuesday evening, April 25, with a distinguished corps of matrons sponsoring the affair, which is for charity. The program will be furnished by Miss Lorraine Wyman, who has won much renown for her costume recitals of folk songs.

A REAL NIFTY NIFTY WINS A DOLLAR

"Why would marine aviation benefit a blind man?"

"Enable him to sea-plane."

"If 22 is the freezing point what is the squeezing point?"

"Two in the shade."

"What kind of hair has our Mayor?"

"Curley."

Authors who won a dollar each, checks in the mail; Eugene M. Cummings, of No. 8 Ash street, Chelsea; Miss Minnie Matthews of No. 10 Hobson street, Lubec, Maine, and Dorothy McKenna of No. 10 Pope street, East Boston.

Aren't those nifty NIFTIES?

We think they are.

Seems like millions of them coming in. But not too many nifty ones. Lots of folks sending in what are known as "old chestnuts." Of course the crisper and fresher and more timely a NIFTY is the better chance it has to win a prize. Now put on your thinking caps and dope out some real, clever, timely, nifty NIFTIES and rush them in. We have thousands but we want thousands more, but most of all we want real nifty NIFTIES. Its lots of fun doping them out and winners, you know, get a dollar each, three prizes a day. Now get busy.

Address NIFTY EDITOR, Boston American.

Springfield, April 20.—Walter L. Davis, forty years old, a prominent business man of No. 4 Haven street, Valley Falls, R. I., was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction for bigamy. Last Fall he married a Springfield girl when he had a wife and family in Valley Falls.

WOMEN CONFER ON NATIONAL PROBLEMS

By Associated Press.

Baltimore, April 20.—Responding to the call of the National League of Women Voters, women from all the Americas assembled here today in conference on subjects of special concern to women—education, child welfare, women in industry, prevention of traffic in women, civil and political status of women and international friendliness.

The league believes that "friendliness with our neighbor countries will be stimulated and strengthened when women from all parts of the Western Hemisphere come together for sympathetic study of their common problems."

It is the announced object of the conference to develop the closest possible co-operation between the women of these countries and it is hoped eventually to develop this co-operation throughout the world.

The conference will continue through Saturday and will be followed on Monday by the regular annual convention of the National League of Women Voters, which will last all of next week.

Archbishop Curley offered the invocation and Governor Ritchie and Mayor Broening welcomed the delegates in behalf of State and city.

EXPECT SENATE TO INCREASE NAVY FUNDS

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 20.—The House had cleared its calendar today of the naval appropriation bill with a victory for the "big navy" faction which supported the amendment increasing the enlisted personnel from 67,000, as originally provided, to 86,000.

A record vote on the amendment preceding the final vote on the bill showed a margin of 73 votes—221 to 148, with two members answering present. Ninety Republicans voted against the personnel increase, while 48 Democrats supported it. The bill then was put through by a vote of 279 to 73.

The total of $731,269,000 carried in the bill as passed was an increase of about $18,000,000 over the amount fixed by the Appropriations Committee which framed it.

WILLIE GETS HIS FIRST LETTER FROM GIRL

She Sends Her Thanks to Somerville Boy Who Found Wages

Eight-year-old Willie Robinson of No. 118 Prospect street, Somerville, got his first letter from a girl today.

His ma took it from the postman, called Willie and—well—he blushed.

It was from pretty Kitty Kelly of No. 14 Columbus avenue, Somerville. Kitty works in a candy factory, but that isn't what makes her so sweet.

Kitty wrote Willie because the other day Willie found her pay envelope as it turned it over to Willie Robinson a patrolman. Willie didn't know then of course it was Kitty's envelope, because where Kitty works they go by numbers. But he gave it to a patrolman and told him that somebody might miss it "awfully."

Kitty did. She is the sole support of a widowed mother.

Through the newspapers she learned that the police had it and she claimed it. Then she wrote Willie: "Enclosed find small token of appreciation to the kind and honest little boy that found my pay. As you know, William, there are not many little boys who would have returned it and I want to thank you."

In the mail was a letter from Mayor John M. Webster commending Willie on his honesty.

Kitty's only seventeen.

DISMISSES CHARGES AGAINST DIRECTORY MEN

New York, April 20.—Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel today dismissed indictments charging James H. Michael and John White and William B. Orr with grand larceny. In connection with what the district attorney's office described as a gigantic directory fraud in which thousands of business men in the United States, Canada and Mexico had been fleeced out of millions of dollars during the last thirty years. The court said: "A careful reading of the grand jury minutes convinces me that there is absolutely no evidence to warrant the finding of the indictment. There is nothing in the minutes to indicate that the defendants, or any one of them, made false representations as to an existing fact."

MENTAL EXAMINATIONS FOR CHILDREN IN COURT

A bill providing for a mental examination of any child between the ages of seven and seventeen who is brought for being delinquent, wayward or for a criminal offense was reported in the House today by the Legislative Committee on Public Health. The examination would be made before the trial of such child. Another bill, reported by the committee would change the name of the Department of Mental Diseases to the Department of Mental Hygiene.

MEDBURY

Says a Married Man Always Buys His Suits Made to His Brother-in-Law's Measure

No matter how independent a married man may be, he doesn't dare to buy a new suit unless his wife goes along with him.

A woman is afraid to let her husband buy a suit by himself. He might get one that looked well on him.

A wife always wants her mate to buy a suit with big pockets so that she can get her hands into them easy.

You may want a herringbone stripe, but your wife is in society and makes you get something classy like caviar.

One guy wanted an extra big cuff, so his wife gave him one when they got home.

He picked out light gray suit, but she wouldn't let him keep it because it didn't go well with her Pomeranian.

A rich man has a hard time buying a suit. He has to get colors which match his limousine, but a poor guy has an easier job because most anything will harmonize with street cars.

One fellow said he didn't like the suit, because the trousers were so tight he couldn't sit down. His wife told him to buy the suit anyway because she intended to keep him busy around the house and he wouldn't have any occasion to sit down.

The average woman buys a loud suit for her husband so she can pick him out in a crowd.

Of course there are some men who wear what they want, but they're single.

He has to buy his trousers three sizes too large just so she can get two even pairs of knickerbockers out of them for the children.

No man decides on a suit until his wife makes up his mind whether he wants it or not.

She wants her husband to have the last word in clothes, but she wants the last word in buying them.

The average man spends more time picking out a suit than he does a wife. And why shouldn't he? He has to keep the suit longer.

BROKER CROWLEY HELD IN DETROIT

Detroit, April 20.—James D. Crowley, Irving J. Isbell and John L. Layne were held for trial after their examination in Municipal Court on charges of conspiracy to defraud, larceny by false pretenses and larceny by conversion. The three were members of the brokerage firm of Crowley & Company of Boston, Cleveland and Detroit.

The specific charge was made on complaint of Morris Friedberg, a Detroit business man. Friedberg claims his losses were nearly $1,000,000.

Six other charges, including violation of the State blue sky law, are pending against Crowley. Isbell and Layne, whose company failed.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FOR LIBERIAN LOAN

Washington, April 20.—By a vote of 13 to 9, the House Ways and Means Committee favorably reported today the Rodney resolution authorizing a loan of $5,000,000 to the Republic of Liberia.

PRICE OF COAL INCREASED ILLEGALLY

(By International News Service.)

Washington, April 20.—Secretary of Labor Davis today informed Attorney General Daugherty that there had been "unjustifiable boosting of coal prices" as a result of the strike and asked that the Department of Justice take immediate steps to stop such practices.

It was agreed following a conference between the Cabinet officials that an investigation would be launched at once to uncover a possible conspiracy between coal operators to maintain high prices.

By International News Service.

Washington, April 20.Bogus independent operators and "faked" sales of coal are the chief contributing factors to the present high prices of coal to the consumer, Nelson B. Gaskill, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, testified today before the House Labor Committee when it began its investigation into the industry.

Movie Actor Dying After Fall From Cliff

William Desmond

Los Angeles, April 20.—William Desmond, moving picture star, was probably fatally hurt while making a "set" on the edge of a high cliff overlooking Jos River at Truckee, California. A ledge of ice and snow gave way, taking Desmond with it He fell fifty feet. His wife, Mary McIvor, a screen actress, rushed to his bedside from his city.

BANS INQUIRY IN CIVIL SERVICE SCANDAL

The House of Representatives today declined to investigate the revelations of scandals in the Civil Service Commission.

An order for a legislative investigation was filed by Representative Coleman B. Kelley of Dorchester after John J. McMasters had confessed that examination papers were stolen and offered for sale to Boston policemen in advance of their examination for sergeant and lieutenant. The Kelley order was reported adversely by the House Rules Committee today and the report was accepted without protest.

HUB HARD HIT BY STEAMSHIP RATE WAR

The port of Boston was said today to be in the throes of a steamship rate war that threatens disaster.

Cuts on the carrying of grain to Europe is said to have precipitated it, along with desperate rivalry among Boston and other Atlantic ports.

According to a steamship official the war is being waged between North Atlantic Conference ships and independents. He said:

"Some time ago the North Atlantic Conference, which settles rates for nearly all the foreign and domestic shipping companies, declared grain rates from Boston to Europe open. This was done to permit Boston ships to lower grain rates to meet the rail differentials against the port.

"A 'gentlemen's agreement' was entered into by the Boston shipping companies not to lower rates below three shillings a bushel to Liverpool and London. An outside company, an American, cut below this figure and the conference ships met the cut.

"Finally the conference ships began cutting rates to get grain away from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Montreal and the 'gentlemen's agreement' was forgotten. As a result, one British ship is said to be loading grain here at one shilling and three pence a bushel, a cut of a shilling and nine pence under the agreement.

"Ill feeling is developing and the big shipping companies are using their utmost efforts to prevent a general rate war."

NEAT TRIM FIGURES FOR RUPTURED WOMEN

Those Having Navel Rupture or Rupture Following Operations Should Try My Plan

FREE

Comfort, Security, Freedom and Shapeliness While Awaiting Cure

Special Corset Attachment for Large, Flesby Women Gives Excellent Figure—Holds Rupture

Mrs. G. C. Reid, representing W. S. Rice Inc., Adams, N. Y., the largest rupture institution in the world, is demonstrating a remarkable corset attachment for ruptured women. This holds any rupture as no truss could with absolute security and distributes the pressure so there is none of the discomfort that comes from narrow bands or belts cutting into and chafing the flesh. At the same time the figure is so improved and made so neat and trim that none would ever suspect a rupture. For those women, especially, who are unable to wear ordinary corsets on account of large navel rupture or ruptures following abdominal operations, this wonderful corset-brace and support combined is a boon indeed.

Mrs. Reid will be at the Adams House, Washington St., Boston, Mass., April 21, 22, 24 and 25, and will welcome ruptured women into her private apartments between 9 and 11 A. M. and 3 P. M. or 7 and 8 in the evening during her stay. She wants you to know whatever for exhibition and demonstration does not obligate you in the least. Supports or no supports, corsets or no corsets. There is no obligation to purchase anything unless you yourself wish to do so after demonstration right on your own person.

Thousands of Cures Reported.

Many thousands of complete cures of rupture of all degrees, reducible or strangling and in old and young alike have been reported from the use of the famous Rice (Home Treatment) Rupture Method, of which these Supports form a part. This lady expert will give full details and positive proofs of this world-famous Method to all who are interested, together with a free trial of Lymphol, Stimulating Application for use on the rupture area.

Why should you go through life with the handicap of a cruel truss, or with the torture of a cruel truss and with the embarrassment of an unshapely and unattractive figure when there is at hand a Method that has opened the doors of hope to so many thousands? The Rice Rupture Method is thoroughly scientific and is supposed to strengthen the weakened tissues which have caused the rupture, though their reactivating. With these tissues restored to normal the hernia is automatically closed and the rupture cured. That is what thousands upon thousands of former Rice Rupture Supports have accomplished in their cases.

With the Rice Method comfortable and security and with the new shapeliness of figure which results you are happy combination support can now be happy and content while awaiting the relief sure to be found in the famous Rice Method.

Remember Mrs. Reid will be here only a few days, so you must act promptly. Don't let the chance escape you. Your future may be at stake. Just ask for Mrs. Reid at the Adams House.

Those who cannot possibly call should write for particulars to

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practising physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

'SALLY' DOYLE LEAVES JAIL ON BAIL

"Sally" F. Doyle, sweetheart of Earle P. ("Tug") Wilson, alleged leader of a Cambridge bandit gang known to have committed a long series of robberies, was released from the Cambridge jail where since April 9 she was lodged as a result of the shooting of Officer Francis J. Pribrick of the Metropolitan Park Police.

The officer was shot by Wilson when he and Miss Doyle were interrupted in a spooning party being held in Wilson's car.

DID NOT STAY HOME.

Miss Doyle had been held in $5,000 on the charge of harboring and concealing Wilson. Michael Nazarro and Joseb Topkins, professional bondsmen, went surety for her.

With her attorney and a relative, "Sally" was whisked away from the jail in an automobile. It was learned that she did not spend the night with her widowed mother at their home, No. 9 Whittemore street, Medford.

After her arrest, "Sally" for several hours withstood the efforts of the police to induce her to disclose the identity of her companion. It was only after hours of severe questioning, that she finally broke down and told the police that Wilson was the man.

Later when Wilson and she were arraigned in court, Wilson appeared to ignore her. Although she kept her eyes glued on him during the proceedings he did not look her way once.

LIVED IN FEAR.

Miss Doyle was said to have lived in fear of Wilson. "I heard things about him, but refused to believe them," she said. "One thing I certainly did not know—that he had a gun with him the night he shot Officer Philbrick. If I had I would certainly not have gone riding with him."

While in jail Miss Doyle is alleged to have made startling disclosures that judges and attorneys worked hand in hand with the gangsters of which Wilson and "Gil" Crosby and "Dave" Eagan, who have also been indicted, were said to be leaders.

HIGH CAPACITY CABLE TO GERMANY PLANNED

New York, April 20.—A cable of a capacity eight or ten times that of old cables is to be laid between New York and Emden, Germany, by way of the Azores, Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company announced on his arrival here from Germany. Arrangements for the new cable have practically been completed between the Western Union and the new German Atlantic Cable Company.

WALLACE IS UNAWARE OF NITRATES SHORTAGE

Washington, April 20.—Citing statistics in an attempt to show that "there has been no shortage of nitrate," secretary of Agriculture Wallace declares in a letter to Andrew L. Keller, New Hampshire Commissioner of Agriculture, that he is not able to understand the basis for the belief fertilizer companies are not able to supply fertilizer needs of farmers."

Mr. Feller had asked the secretary to urge the War Department to release its supply.

SHIP BOARD MEN IN BOSTON TO STUDY PORT

A committee of the United States Shipping Board, consisting of Chairman Frederick I. Thompson, Admiral William S. Benson and George E. Chamberlain, arrived in Boston today to ascertain if the port requires further steamship services, to be supplied with Shipping Board vessels. Hearings will begin at the Federal Building Friday and Boston's case will be presented by Frank S. Davis of the Maritime Association.

FREIGHTER SUNK IN CRASH, CREW SAVED

Buenos Aires, April 20.—By the Associated Press.)—The Mitsuon line steamer Aconite, bound from Rio Janeiro to Montevideo, collided with the British freighter Zero today off the coast of Uruguay, says a wireless message received here. The Zero was sunk, but all her crew were saved.

STEEL PLANT SHORT OF COAL WILL CLOSE

"Glad to Be Alive," Even if Badly Injured

MRS. ROBERT GROSVENOR.

SOCIETY LEADER MAY BE LIFE CRIPPLE

Newport, R. I., April 20.—Mrs. Robert Grosvenor, society leader and widow of the son of the late millionaire William Grosvenor of Providence and this city, who was seriously injured when her horse ran away and threw her to the pavement, may be a cripple for months if not for life, according to the belief of her surgeons as expressed today at the Newport hospital.

That she will recover is certain, the doctors say, but just what her condition will be it is too early as yet to declare.

She will have to remain in a plaster cast for several months before the injury to her back is healed.

Mrs. Grosvenor is not yet able to give the details of the runaway, but to friends who have visited her she had declared repeatedly she is "glad to be alive."

THREE CHILDREN KILLED BY GAS

Houston, Tex., April 20.—Three children, huddled together in their bed, were found dead at their home today. Gas fumes filled the room, escaping from a kitchen stove.

The children were Louise Mathis, 6; Elizabeth, five, and William, nine, who lived with their father, H. J. Mathis, and their grandfather, V. S. Mathis. Neither the father or grandmother could account for the open gas jets.

BABY CARRIAGE MILLIONAIRE WEDS AT 70

Newark, N. J., April 20.—Marshall Burns Lloyd, millionaire baby carriage manufacturer of Menominee, Mich., and his bride are stopping at the Robert Treat hotel here, after their marriage at the Brick Presbyterian Church in Fifth avenue, New York. Lloyd appears to be about 70 years old, and his bride about 55.

She was Mrs. Tourlette Polen of Orange, N. J., before she became Mrs. Lloyd. Lloyd, who recently sold his baby carriage business, admitted that he was worth about $3,000,000.

Mr. Lloyd said fate brought them together. He said:

"I have usually gone to French Lick Springs, Ind., for my health," he said, "but this year I went to Florida. If I hadn't I would never have met the woman now my bride.

Mr. Lloyd told of the days of his poverty, when he sold fish on the streets of Sanford, Ontario, and later sold soap in Toronto. At one time, he said, he was a mail carrier with a dog train in Canada, between Fort Arthur and Pelgeon River. He said he got his start when he was a waiter and sold a house of lord for $250.

He had a fortune of $30,000 soon after the sale of the land, he said, and got out a number of inventions, the most successful of which was a process for making wicker by machinery. Through the invention he went into the baby carriage business.

He met Mrs. Polen in a novelty store, where she waited on him.

OFFERED DOLLAR BILLS FOR 12½ CENTS EACH

Okmulgee, Okla., April 20.—An alleged confidence game in which three men are charged with having offered one dollar bills for sale at the rate of twelve and a half cents each, and found a lively market, but failed to deliver the cheap money after they received their price, was uncovered here in the arrest of Jack Gardner of Muskogee on a charge of fraud and robbery. Warrants are out for two others. The men are alleged to have told that they had received a great number of $1 bills from failed banks and that in order to handle the money conveniently they had to have it in larger denominations.

80-Mile Gale From West Sweeps Great Lakes

By Associated Press.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 20.—The edge of the storm that wrought havoc in the Middle West moved over the Great Lakes region today, the wind reaching a velocity of eighty miles an hour and bringing with it scattered snowfalls of from two to three inches.

In the city, many plateglass windows were shattered. The police roped off a safety zone around a new hotel in course of construction on Niagara square after the wind had carried away temporary parts of the building.

BOOTLEGGER, 13 IS PLACED ON PROBATION

Tony Cordeno, thirteen years old, described by the police as "Boston's youngest bootlegger," was placed on probation in Juvenile Court today when found guilty of selling a half pint of liquor to a member of the vice squad.

He was charged with delinquency. The boy was arrested in a Prince street store by Patrolmen Conway, Griffith and Florst. It was alleged he sold the liquor to Conway.

Gardello Carbone, owner of the store, charged with selling liquor, had his case continued for trial.

New Columbia Records

When the floor doesn't count

Put on that dance number, let it go full tilt, and the floor can be the best in the world or the stubble grass of a Western lawn—it won't make any difference. For, oh, how that music can make your feet go! They won't take time off to rest.

Popular orchestras, that dancing couples flock to dance to, make their records exclusively for Columbia. On the New Process Columbia Record every note the boys play is reproduced so clearly that you might think they were right there.

If you want to know what folks are taking to in dance music, follow the crowd and you will see them going in the doors of Columbia Dealers and walking out with a large bundle of dance records under their arms. They know that Columbia has the newest and best tunes there are to dance to.

Join the trail of Columbia fans and keep up with the music they are dancing to now. Hear the new records at any Columbia shop and see how hard it is to make your feet behave.

CATCHING FAME ON THE RUN! If old Spiritos Phidippides, the guy who started this Marathon business, had been on the side lines Wednesday he certainly would have strained a lung cheering Clarence De Mar's wonderful feat (no pun intended). Most folks can run about fast enough to catch a cold, but it takes a real "he" man to cover the twenty five mile grind. The diagram above illustrates how carefully the thirty-three-year-runner prepared his campaign. Not until near the end did he show his mettle, after his rivals had burned up their best energy. And when it was all over, perhaps the happiest person in the world was his mother, Mrs. Caro De Mar, at left, of No. 43 Union street, Melrose Highlands, who heard the glad news over the Boston American's radio news service. Incidentally, it was just eleven years ago that she heard the same news—that her son had won the Marathon—with the exception that she heard it over the telephone. But don't forget Albert Smoke, the Canadian Indian, shown at right, who trains on somkes and just to prove it lit up a big black cigar after he trotted over the line the third man in

WAVE LENGTHS BEING FIXED DEFINITELY

If Federal Report Is Adopted No Changes in Present Radio Sets Are Needed

By A. R. Hoag

The owner of a radio receiving set will not be required to change the wave length to which his instrument is tuned to enable him to receive broadcasting stations operating under the present division of wave lengths, if the recommendations of the Federal Radio Commission are adopted.

Listeners-in who have been complaining that they could not receive broadcasting stations operating on wave lengths above 360 meters will be able to do so without changing the adjustment of their receiving sets.

AUTO VICTIM'S WIDOW TO GET $10,500

Supreme Court Upholds Verdict Against Mrs. Mary Magenis of Dedham

Mrs. Mary A. Magenis, widow of the late James P. Magenis of Dedham, Boston lawyer and former member of the Boston School Committee, will have to pay a verdict of $10,500 returned against her by a jury in the Suffolk superior Criminal Court in the suit brought by Mrs. Adeline E. Barnes, whose husband, Dr. Willis G. Barnes, died as the result of being struck and injured by the defendant's automobile in June 1919.

Mrs. Magenis claimed that a verdict should have been rendered in her favor on the ground that the evidence did not warrant a finding that the chauffeur, Herbert H. Sheehan, was engaged on the business of the defendant at the time of the accident.

The full bench of the Supreme Court overruled the exceptions of Mrs. Magenis in an opinion to be handed down today.

On June 14 1919, Dr. Barney had been to the Boston Dispensary on Bennet street South End. As he came out of Bennet street and started to cross Washington street he was struck and thrown to the curb by Mrs. Magenis' automobile, driven by Herbert H. Sheehan. He was severely injured and died on June 20 1919.

NEAR DEATH AS 100TH BIRTHDAY APPROACHES

Chicago, April 20—James Kirkley wants to live out his 100 years in full round out the years of life. He was dangerously ill today and physicians doubt whether his ambition will be realized if he lives he will be visited Friday by his children and grandchildren who will light the candles on the cake that is being baked today.

Kirkley was in good health until last Sunday when he began to suffer from complications resulting from a recent fall that was not thought serious at first.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By ALFRED STEPHEN BRYAN

What to Wear and How to Wear It.

Copyright, 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Muss-Proof and Dust-Proof

New York, April 20.—Some connoisseur of color has evolved a fascinating theory that a man cannot go amiss if he only dress to match his hair. So, if the man with black hair should wear a black suit, if the man with gray hair should wear a gray suit; if the man with red hair should wear a reddish suit, what should the bald man wear?

In the matter of cloth hats one's choice is far simpler, as their interplay of colors allows any man to wear them smartly and becomingly.

A cloth hat is not only acceptable during the off season, but is now and then, but it is particularly adapted to rainy weather as it does not show spots and recovers readily from raindrops.

Illustrated here is one of these cloth hats of sprigue, with a wide roll brim and a tapering crown, dented at the sides. The band is looped ends.

The patterns may be worsted or flannel, heather mixtures, Scotch plaids and many more serviceable weaves which are both muss-proof and shed-proof.

The Chesterfield, Old, Yet Ever New

Out Scotching the Scotch in our grip on golf, and not Englishing the English in our games at polo it is natural that in the realm of dress and easy specialties we should be not easily infected in our manner of dress.

The irrepressible desire to be unconfined in clothes has led to the widespread vogue of the so-dropping sport coat and box coats. Indeed, one of the main objections to the tailored bath robe queen.

Nevertheless the fit front Chesterfield overcoat of the sort shown above is well fitted and peaked lapels remains still one of the favorite among men who like to draw a line of demarkation between town clothes and country clothes.

Such a coat is appropriate alike for day and evening, make the replacement of the cloth collar with the velvet collar lending an added dash of formality.

Covert cloth, is a fabric which, after long use, is singled for reintroduction in top coatings.

NOTE—Questions concerning Correct Dress for Men will be answered by Alfred Stephen Bryan. If you desire to have a copy of this newspaper. To insure a reply, a stamped envelope must be enclosed.

LINCOLN MOTORS CLAIM FILED BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, April 20. The government today began proceedings to recover $4,134,841 alleged to be due it by the Lincoln Motors Company under contracts for the manufacture of motor trucks during the war.

GIRLS BESIEGE FIREMAN 'BEAUTY'

Ladderman "Bill" Quayle of 5 Lafayette square, Cambridge, engine house, "handsomest man in Cambridge," is being besieged by telephone calls and personal visits from members of the fair sex who want to know the recipe for cultivating the pulchritude that was his portion.

Seven of young Quayle's mates at the engine house have received orders congratulations for him, because Quayle has been the fair sex ever since he was a what it was made him. The owner of the house, Quayle's own home and his mother, Mrs. Quayle, is the only one who has not been deluged with letters and telephone calls.

Just what it was all over use he could not tell.

In addition to soap, Bill Quayle uses no other toilet article. He has a shave if possible and no massage. He takes a shower bath, but it would be better and was, he admitted, not to rub at the hair as it is already bald.

Quayle was married last year and is the father of a [illegible] baby. He says he will never use the [illegible] that.

STRICT ATTENTION TO TRAINING BROUGHT DE MAR GLORY

WINNER'S OWN STORY OF GREAT RACE

By CLARENCE H. DE MAR

Some surprise has been expressed that a man of my age was able to come back and win the B. A. A. Marathon race after eleven years, and I have been asked several times if there was any special training that I went through to fit myself for the event. I have been asked too, to write my story of the race for the American and I guess I had better start with my training.

I can say right here that my success was due to no special or freak training stunts. Of course, I keep myself in fairly good condition all the year round, getting plenty of fresh air and not too much exercise, but I have tried nothing fancy.

I started in training for the race about five months ago and I have been faithful in my training. I ate all the food I wanted, no special dishes, but good plain, wholesome, home cooked food, and I have done a little jogging, commencing to build up my wind and get my legs in shape. Last year I started [illegible] started. I ran a very few miles [illegible] as I felt myself getting into better shape.

SISTERS

A Powerful Story of Romance, Marriage, Temptation and the Triumph of Unselfish Love

Should a Man Wed One Girl When His Heart Is Another's? Problem in This Story of Country Life

The Action So Far

Dr. Strickland, inventor and physician, lives in a quiet little settlement [illegible] with his daughters, Alix and Flora, and his niece, [illegible], keeps house for him. Peter loves a young man of [illegible] but been in his office [illegible] never told her. Court between Martin [illegible] and Anne was Justin Loftus. Peter takes a trip and [illegible] return learns that Dr. Strickland has died. He [illegible] Alix.

ARRAYED in one of her sister's dresses, her hair carefully arranged, she looked far from the abused wife she had pictured herself, and yet she was positive in her declaration of dejection.

"Martin's been abusing me dreadfully," she said, with her hands in her lap and a plaintive air that went to the heart of the man who had loved her all these years

"What's he been doing?" asked her sister.

"Oh, well——"

"You mean he struck you——"

"Of course not—but he's—he's not considerate—little things——"

"That's the worst kind of abuse," said Peter.

"I'm not so sure," ventured Alix, "leaving your husband is a pretty serious thing, Cherry—are you quite sure you can't go back?"

"She can't go back," Peter broke in; "hasn't she been through enough as it is? She can stay right here with us."

"I can't tell Martin I've tried it long enough," said Cherry.

"My dear, you don't [illegible] marriage [illegible] to Martin [illegible] I [illegible] marriage [illegible] Martin [illegible] you [illegible] Alix [illegible]

"Alix, when you married Martin you promised [illegible] and honor [illegible] in health, for [illegible] for richer or [illegible] and [illegible] said [illegible] and leaving the room.

"I'm a girl," said the [illegible]

"Martin is another [illegible] I think we should [illegible] what Martin [illegible] Alix [illegible]

"I?" Alix [illegible]

"Yes, you and Peter [illegible]

"Do you want her to [illegible] her [illegible]" asked his wife, amazed at his strong attitude

"I've [illegible] with him," he [illegible] "after [illegible]

"I think [illegible] Alix [illegible] Peter a few days of rest [illegible] and [illegible] I'll [illegible] she'll see [illegible] her duty."

Cherry's departure ought not to have startled Martin since he himself had made the suggestion; when [illegible] the [illegible] to marry [illegible] he was [illegible] person in the world who would have thought she would act on it.

He found he was wrong when he [illegible] a note announcing she had flown.

Cherry had found time to scrawl a few words explaining her decision.

The man stared at the words; turned the paper over, could hardly believe his eyes, and suddenly felt as though the world was empty.

News travels fast in small places; Cherry's absence might as well have been heralded from the roof tops. Friends of Martin, most of them uncouth men, sauntered into the cottage to ask what was wrong.

"You're your own boss now," said one.

"Your own cook, too," said another.

"I tell you, Martin, now's your chance, while the cat's away—come along to the party tonight."

They grinned. "What stuff? Just trying to cheer you up; can't see you suffering here along sucking your thumbs all evening."

Peter, with the guilty knowledge of loving Cherry, backs her up in her refusal to return to her husband, overriding the pleas of Alix.

In the end Martin went, chiefly to get away from his thoughts. He succeeded so well that the gossips were linking his name with Hattie Woods, a flashing brunette, before a week had passed.

Word of all this car to the Joyce bungalow, and came in the insidious form of an anonymous letter

Cherry had never put herself out to be nice to the many workday women of Millhven. One of them seized a four waited chance to get even. If she could have seen Cherry's expression when the young wife read her note she would have been more than satisfied

Cherry had been enjoying herself with Alix and Peter; there was no question of that. She seemed to grow younger by the hour. Dinah, whose grins rather startled Alix, took delight whenever she saw Peter and Cherry together

After the excitement of her arrival had worn off, Cherry began to wonder about Peter; he seemed so very devoted to her; so very tender. Alix had written shortly before his departure abroad that some woman had broken his heart by marrying. Cherry thought of all the women Peter knew and wondered more and more

It was the loquacious Dinah who solved the puzzle for her. Ever since the days when Peter invaded the kitchen she had settled it in her own mind that he was the man for Cherry. Now that he was married to her sister she had accepted the fact without the least changing her belief

When she saw them once more on the old familiar terms she could not restrain her satisfaction.

"What are you smiling about, Dinah?" asked Peter on one of her incursions into the sitting room.

"If you must know, Mass Peter, I'm smiling at the way you done fool me. I done know you was in love with Miss Cherry and I sure thought you two was gwine be married."

She doubled up in an explosive laugh, not failing to note that the man's face was red and that a queer light had sprung into Cherry's eyes.

"Fiddlesticks," said Peter, as she made for the pantry.

Cherry took his arm, knowing more than he thought she knew "Peter, did you really care for me that way, really?"

Peter looked at her and made no attempt to deny; Cherry felt a thrill of satisfaction.

"Was that the reason you went away eight after I was married?" she asked with the air of having discovered the answer to a secret

Alix, entering with the letter from Millhven, spared her husband the pain of answering.

"Maybe it's from Martin," said Alix.

Cherry shook her head, tore open the envelope and read; her face scarlet

"That settles it!" she cried. "Now I never will go back. What do you make of this? Listen. 'If you think your husband misses you, ask him about Hattie Woods and see what he says.'"

"Who wrote it?" asked Alix.

"I don't know, but does the matter?"

"You surely aren't going to attach any importance to an anonymous letter?"

"What difference does the make?" asked the angry Cherry.

"Oh, Cherry, if you hadn't rip off like that.

"How you talk, Alix. What else could she do? I don't think you understand what Cherry's been through. Think of her pride!"

Peter had become an ardent champion of the runaway wife, and Cherry resolved not to lose one iota of his sympathy.

She crushed the letter in her hand. "I think I've been through about enough," she said. "What do you know about it? Here you are with everything money can buy and you pretend to preach to me about living with a man who's likes his food in common laborer. I won't stand it!"

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

ROMANCE OF NEWLY WEDDED COUPLE

By Ann Lisle

"WHAT'S precisely how I make it?" cried Mabel. "It must be pretty near right. And as to the eyes and shoulders, I'm sure we both se the motive clearly enough—and the same way."

"Your turn to lay your cards on the table," I laughed, feeling that if she was still inwardly tense and nervous speech might help her to work it off.

"All right. Dick's information included the mortgage, and the fact that the insurance would be paid to the mortgagee. Therefore if you lost your furniture and couldn't replace it, you'd [illegible] your tenant. And if the apartment itself wasn't too badly damaged, as it would have been if the fire had really swept up from below, burning walls and floors, it could be repaired quickly enough to force you to pay rent soon again.

"But at that," I cried, "precisely what has Dick West to gain by this little transaction? He can't think that Jim would quit now of his own accord, or that he'd ask him to quit merely because I've lost my furniture and the rent."

"No—but a small circumstance like that [illegible] circumstance in marriage, it could hurt your new business, you know, if you were counting on the profit from your rents to help you get on your feet. It [illegible] you to borrow from J. H. Harrison & Co., and so swamp us if we were trying to see you through. You see how many moves ahead in the game Dick is capable of thinking."

"Yes, I see," I said slowly and emphatically. "But I promise you now that one of his plans—at least—is doomed to failure. Whatever happens to A. L. Harrison, Advertising Consultant, won't affect J. L. Harrison & Co."

"There isn't any danger that anything—unpleasant—will happen to A. L. Harrison, advertising consultant, is there?" sneered Mabel Storrs, almost breathlessly, after I'd declared my intention to pacify my own cause and never ask financial aid from Jim's office.

"Danger!" I laughed as I repeated the word, girding myself to a loyalty such as I [illegible] erous husband wouldn't ask of me, but to which I felt I must now commit myself. "Of course there's danger in any going concern. It may go too fast or in the wrong direction—any one of the things might happen. But I'm not going to swamp Jim in case I find myself on the [illegible] dinner for four at once, and Ma.

Daily Short Story

LOOKING AFTER LETTY

By Ella Randall Pearce.

IT was Letty's third day at Atlantic City, and her third day of acquaintance with Miss Evelyn Thurber, the latest addition to the group of young people so delightfully chaperoned by Mrs. Compson. Miss Thurber was Mrs. Compson's particular friend, a stranger to the others till her arrival. [illegible]

Engagement a Mistake

[illegible] Letty said positively. "If Evelyn wasn't your guest, I'd show that [illegible]

And Letty's temper was most sympathetic. That day when, on one of her shopping trips, she ran across Herbert Ayres, also a one, the last day of a very delightful outing," remarked Herbert Ayres, with a [illegible] note in his voice.

The look in his eyes made Letty's heart flutter. She had a [illegible]

"Mrs. Compson and Evelyn—and you!"

"And your name isn't even——"

"Why, that's my name—Herbert Ayres. Evelyn's my [illegible]

She looked Mr. Herbert Ayres over coolly at meeting, decided that he was a very pleasant appearing young man and admitted him at once to her friendship as she had done with Miss Thurber.

The two men spent ten days at Atlantic City. It was near the end of their vacation when Letty, com[illegible]

Letty was swinging along toward the little shops. She did not mind being alone, and she was having an especially good time on this trip because no men were around.

Letty had come to be suspicious of anyone who introduced to her a personable young man. [illegible] to be fair, [illegible]

"Mr. Compson is bringing another man with him tonight," said Mrs. Compson to Letty a little later. "Evelyn Thurber's fiance," she added quickly, noting the gleam in Letty's eyes.

"Oh, I didn't know she was engaged," Letty dodged mischievously. "You won't be bored entertaining them, will we? And I'll be awfully glad to see Mr. Compson.

ADVICE TO LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

Lending Her Fiance Money

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

Florence and Jim have gone about together for three years and contemplated marriage in the near future.

Recently, through no fault of his own, Jim suffered serious business reverses, and after meeting his many expenses is without [illegible] whereas the young man is working night and day and expects to be on his feet again in a couple of months.

Florence, who has a steady position, has [illegible] and lend him money to meet many little necessities, since she would rather have him borrow from her than anyone else. He refused, claiming that it would be most unmanly to accept it. She argues that where there is such wonderful understanding between two young people, a mere matter of sex should not be allowed to interfere.

FLORENCE.

THEORETICALLY Florence is right. But one can't help admiring Jim for the manliness with which he is trying to save enough to the girl he loves—not to let her make sacrifices to help him financially. This is pride of a normal, healthy, male sort and Florence mustn't ask her sweetheart to sacrifice it.

THE GIRL'S HAPPINESS

TRY TO HELP HER TO FIND HERSELF

By W. A. McKeever.

SHE that your girl has something to [illegible] practically the same difficulties a low self appreciation, a doubting of her own abilities, a lack of something worth while to do, a tendency to look with mistrust upon the future.

I find that the foregoing veil of unhappiness is present today among girls of practically all walks of life. Money and income and clothes and things possessed in general have little to do with it in inner zone of stress and worry and doubt that burdens so many girls.

Train and educate your girl in the direction of a self-sustaining vocation. Again the family income is not fundamentally involved here. It is the character, the satisfaction of mind and the sense of true worthiness which we must bend our efforts to.

Train and direct your girl so that she will have chance and highly-minded association with the best class of youths and young men

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Dr. Lewis Baker

"Gold" writes: "I have such a very severe cough and cold and have not been able to get anything to help me. It is wearing my system."

Answer: Use the following and your cold and cough should vanish and you will soon be strong again: Get a [illegible] concentrated essence Mentho-Laxene and take every hour or two. This can be taken pure or made into a full pint of home-made syrup. Full directions as to use will be found on bottle.

* * *

R. F. asks: "I have tried to cure dandruff, nothing seems to [illegible] and baldness with numerous medicines, but in vain. What do you recommend?"

Answer: I have been recommending plain yellow Sulphur for the past 12 years and scores of my patients are delighted with the quick, pleasant action of this remedy in stopping itching, falling hair, dandruff, etc. It gives the hair health, lustre and vigor as nothing else does. Obtain in 4-oz. jars with full directions

Mother writes: "Last Winter I was cured of a bad case of bronchitis by using your prescription containing Mentho-Laxene, and have been very grateful and confident of getting good advice. I wish to know if a good cough medicine to reduce my abnormal weight about 30 pounds."

Answer: I thank you for your confidence and advise that Fivegrain Arbolene tablets in the relief should [illegible] which I always prescribe to help me in reducing. Any druggist can supply you.

* * *

George asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My head aches, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with constipation." Please help me.

Answer: Get a laxative blood-cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain Sulphur tablets and supplement with directions the tendency to constipation and irregularity. Soon a good health and pure blood will return.

* * *

Mrs. B. writes, "I hesitate to ask advice, as my case is an unusual one. I am tired and worn out all the time. Rest does not refresh me. I have been married over a year and feel sure I do not know what it was to be tired or nervous. Sometimes I feel hysterical. I fear I will become a nuisance to my husband if this continues."

Answer: Your nervous system has been depleted. You need a tonic invigorating medicine that will aid in supplying more food-energy to your nerves. Take Cadomene tablets regularly for several months.

* * *

Miss Betsy writes: "I should like to be advised of a remedy for [illegible] and a cure of rheumatism."

Answer: There are several such but I would suggest 5-grain Su-thol tablets best of all.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for several years and I [illegible] it is the best medicine for [illegible] I am at that time of life when [illegible] it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's [illegible] help. My [illegible] I [illegible] to take it in the papers and send 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every woman to take Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. H. J. Linton, 1850 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. Forbes

Have you not known some men who never seemed to get anything like as far as their great abilities would have warranted them? This question is prompted by the death of a man of quiet universal ability and erudition and experience, yet whose fame and place in the world fell short of what his talents should have warranted. This man was John Foord, who died this week, at the age of 78, as the result of an automobile accident.

* * *

I have known few men as well educated, in the fullest sense of the word, as Mr. Foord. As a youth he earned scholastic distinction in his native school and became a newspaper man, was early attracted by the democracy of America, rose to be editor of a New York morning newspaper and, in the forty years following his retirement from the position has filled various roles, becoming recognized, particularly, as a genuine authority on Far Eastern affairs.

Yet, somehow, Mr. Foord was never accorded the recognition his extraordinary qualities should have earned him. His reading, his knowledge were almost uncanny. He was steeped in history, in poetry, in folklore, in economics, in finance. Chinese and Japanese affairs and geography were as familiar to him as Broadway. The most eloquent and fascinating addresses I have ever heard were made by Mr. Foord.

* * *

I once had the temerity to express my astonishment and my regret that he had not become a much bigger, national figure. In his kind of sounded him as to the reason. His reply was to the effect that he had always cherished his independence more than preferment, and that he had all through life refused to sacrifice one iota of his independence for the sake of "getting on."

* * *

When I first started out to try to find a job in New York he showed me the greatest kindness, and then, having succeeded in putting me in the way of getting a "trial job" from a daily newspaper, he gave me this terse piece of advice: "Learn more about some one subject than anybody else knows." I well recall reflecting that in that city of several million people and embracing thousands of writers, this was a colossal, not to say hopeless, undertaking. Mr. Foord himself, however, had accomplished this, for he was admittedly our best all-round authority on Asia.

I know, and you doubtless know, numbers of brilliant men who never quite reached the full height their possibilities. Why is it, I wonder? You see many other men, not half as able, rising much farther.

* * *

On the first newspaper I worked for in this country was a graduate of either Oxford or Cambridge University. He was conscientious enough and really tried to work hard, for he was able to secure successfully a $30-a-week job, and used to ask me to hand over to him some of the easy I received from writing to other publications. Finally, he gave up, and jumped into the Hudson River, ending it all.

* * *

While it is broadly true that big positions are usually filled by big men, yet one runs across instances where men who do not strike one as being very big manage to fill important positions. On the other hand, one sometimes finds men of apparently extraordinary capabilities who have failed to succeed in "getting there." The popular notion is that some men have wonderful "luck" while others have nothing but ill-luck. Personally I do not take much stock in this theory.

* * *

There is another widespread idea to which I cannot subscribe, namely, that in battling for success in business it is necessary to "get the better of the other fellow." I had a chat the other Sunday afternoon with John McHugh who, in middle life, was brought from the Middle West to the banking field in New York and who was recently made president of the Mechanics' Bank. Said Mr. McHugh:

"I have never found it necessary. I have never even been tempted to do one single thing inconsiderate or unfair in the course of my whole business life.

"That's my conception regarding the business game.

Stocks React Before the New York Close; Money 3½%; Foreign Exchange Up

TRADERS TAKE PROFITS LATE IN THE DAY

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Irregularity marked the price movement on the New York exchange at the close, many issues selling at their lowest for the session in the final hour. Profit taking was resumed by traders late in the day and at the end most a majority of leaders were showing losses. The reaction extended through the list. Trading was active, it being another million-share day—the fifteenth in succession. This is a record.

U. S. Steel closed at 93¾, off ½; Mexican Petroleum down 1⅜ at 120⅝; Studebaker had receded ¼ to 124⅝; Pan American I lo 62⅝; Atchison ¾ to 92½, and Union Pacific ⅜ to 133⅜. Among gains were Baldwin at 83¾ or 4⅝; American Locomotive 1 at 116, Baldwin ⅜ at 117; Houston 1 at 64⅝, Reading ⅜ at 77⅝, and New Haven ¼ at 39¾.

Prices were higher at the opening and the trend continued upward during the morning, although realizing selling late in the second hour lowered important gains, while in some instances exceeded three points to a slight extent. The morning feature was the advance of Steel common above par. It selling at 100⅛. It was a leader. Studebaker was another. Oils and rails showed the most group activity.

Many issues sold at new highs for this year or last. Competitive bidding established a new record for Liberty bonds, under and chain store issues were among the strongest. Texas Pacific first preferred advanced 20 points on two transactions. Rails were the strongest class as a whole. Rock Island, Frisco & Western, New Haven and Atchison selling at 1920 highs. Profit taking caused a trifling reaction at midday and after trifling reaction at midday and after rallying the market was steady in the afternoon.

Reports from Genoa that Russia would repudiate debts did not surprise Wall Street nor affect stocks. Foreign exchange rates advanced, especially marks. Call money opened at 3½ per cent.

Market Displayed Unusual Buoyancy

By W. S. COUSINS.
Copyright, 1922, by the Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, April 20.—There was bullish demonstration in the stock market today when U. S. Steel common sold above par for the first time in over two years. The first half hour was characterized by unusual buoyancy and the whole list moved forward. The speculative community displayed no concern over the Federal Reserve decision not to reduce the rediscount rate. After momentary hesitation in order to observe the realizing that followed the opening, the market resumed its forward movement, wiping out the losses that have been placed in front of the speculative leaders by the recent reaction and establishing fresh signs with substantial figures attached. The best advances were made by the old-time favorite leaders. Studebaker in the motors, Mexican Petro and Stutz in the oils, and Baldwin in the equipments and Baldwin in the equipments.

As if the favorable record of earnings of the Stock Exhibition were not sufficient excuse for the bullish activities in Rock Island the public was treated to the sheet of further success in the search for oil in its acreage in Oklahoma. The road's oil wells are runs through the famous Eldorado field. The management of the road will now seek to augment its income by bringing the oil in its territory to the surface and reaping benefit by the production as well as the transportation of the fluid.

Liberty Bonds Are Market Leaders

By HOWARD ROBERTS.
Copyright, 1922, Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, April 20.—Under the lead of the Liberty bond issues, the market for investment securities rallied today and registered moderate gains.

The foreign list was firm. Mexican is selling up 1⅜ at 59, United Kingdom 4½ at 97¾, Canada at 107¼, Queensland 78 at 109⅜.

Consolidated Gas 78 made a new high at 118, up ¼. Consolidated Gas sold up ⅛ at 116; American Telephone 6s were up ½ at 113½, and Sinclair Oil 7½s brought 104⅜.

The rails were firm. Reading 1st as, Ann Arbor 1st as, which sold up 2 points at 75; Chesapeake & Ohio 6s up ¼ at 94; Missouri Pacific general 4s, off 1 at 65; New York Central 6s at 94⅜; Baltimore & Ohio 6s at 99¼.

Traction bonds were firm and strong. International Metropolitan collateral 4 per cents, sold up 1 point at 15½, while the Hudson & Manhattan 5s, income, formed the high mark on this move, up ½ at 60½. Invincible Oil gained 1 point at 99¼.

Curb Market Is Broad and Strong

By Associated Press.

New York, April 20.—The curb market showed unusual breadth and strength today than at any time since the beginning of the upward movement. Some issues advanced to the highest prices ever recorded. Motor stocks were especial features.

Durant Motors rose above 38. Phillip Morris was another strong feature, moving up from 15 to the new high of 16. Eastman Kodak sold at 78¾, in the early trading, followed by a moderate reaction in the afternoon.

Hudson Tube issues were among the active features. Hudson & Manhattan advancing to around 14 and the preferred above 37. Reo Motors and Goldwyn Pictures were unusually active.

Higher Price for Lead

New York, April 20.—The American Smelting & Refining Company today advanced the price of lead from 5.00 to 5.10 cents a pound.

MOVIE WORLD NEWS AND COMMENT

Travesty on the Movies Reveals Foibles of Big Directors and Producers

By FRIEDA DAVIS.

THOUGH it should go against the grain for me to poke fun at the motion picture industry, it is hard not to mention the article by Robert Sherwood in this month's Photoplay Magazine. His "Alas, Poor Hamlet," is quite one of the most entertaining travesties on the movies we have read, revealing the foibles of our biggest directors and producers in their methods of directing and producing.

It seems that the Danish film, "Hamlet," in which Asta Nielsen scored a success in New York this season, has brought to Mr. Sherwood the thought of how others would handle the Shakespeare story.

First it is done in the manner of "C. B." DeMille, with Gloria Swanson as Ophelia and Wallace Reid as her husband, Hamlet. His Hamlet is far from a melancholy Dane. It is filled with rich baths, tubs and sliding doors through which Rolls Royces come sprinting through. The plot—if any—is concerned mostly with these "props," with now and then the player taking part.

FOX AND GRIFFITH.

The Fox version is known as "Sin Eternal," and is arranged on the lavish and stupendous scale of "Queen of Sheba" fame. Mr. Fox has arranged for mob scene after mob scene, all, budging from the Fox computing machine, at tremendous expense to Mr. Fox, personally.

The Griffith "Hamlet," features Richard Barthelmess as Lillian Gish in what Griffith is supposed to call "A Moon Tale of the Ages." It is a thing largely of subtitles, explaining that the hero and heroine "love as you and I love, yearn as you and I yearn, think as you and I think," and, I suppose, eat, drink and sleep as we all eat, drink and sleep as we all eat, they are more or less human. The star of love plays a great part as well as do successive flashes of a pair of doves, a pair of bunnies, and a pair of goldfish.

AND VON STROHEIM.

The Von Stroheim version is explained by a foreword by Carl Laemmle, head of Universal, that he takes "pleasure (?)" in presenting this latest folly of Erich Von Stroheim. "Foolish Wives," which Von Stroheim not only wrote, directed, photographed, and developed the picture, but that he plays the title roll as well. The subtitles are attributed to Jane Grie ingeniously—to Miss Amy Lowell. And the story is along the lines of "Foolish Wives."

WITH "FOUR HORSEMEN"

IN REVIEW, the return engagement of the Metro success, "The Four Horsemen," is a revelation. I saw it at the State Theatre the other day. I carelessly forgot to speak of the Spanish art that is one of the attractions of the week's bill, "In Argentine."

While it has nothing particular to do with the picture, it is particularly effective in view of the Argentinian scenes of the first Ingram film. There is a Rodolph Valentino in it, too, with his Latin costume and make up. He does an exquisite Argentine tango with one of the Spanish dancers. The entire act is not only full of color and atmosphere, but comedy as well. It deserves a word.

BETTY COMPSON BUSY.

IT seems incredible that one star can make so many productions in such a short time as Betty Compson. She has scarcely finished "Over the Hill," with Tom Moore, than she plunged into the "shoulder high" Bonded Woman," in which she is supported by Richard Dix and John Bowers, formerly of the Goldwyn forces.

The moment she finishes work on this picture she will start right in on "To Have and To Hold," with Bert Lytell. When this last story was made by Paramount some years ago Mae Murray and Tom Forman had the leading roles.

UNIVERSAL NOTES.

JOHN DAVIDSON has been added to the cast supporting Priscilla Dean in "Under Two Flags." James Kirkwood will be her leading man.

"Ivanhoe" is to be made into a serial film during the Summer by Universal. This Sir Walter Scott novel was one of the first "feature" pictures ever produced. Universal made it years ago with King Baggot in the lead.

Another refilming is on the books for this company. Herbert Rawlinson will make a movie version of "The Three Musketeers." Lon Chaney's first starring picture for Universal, "The Trap," is about to be released. "This is a story written by Chaney and deals with the French-Canada border.

Priscilla Dean—to be her—will be seen later in a screen adaptation of William Hurlbut's stage drama, "Crimmed in Scarlet," in which Maxine Elliott played two years ago.

SEVERAL KILLED IN RUSSIAN OUTBREAK

Helsingfors, Finland, April 20 (By International News Service).—Serious labor troubles have broken out in the Communist factories at Zlatoust, according to dispatches received here. Members of the local Soviet have been arrested and Communist organizations have been dissolved. Several commissaries have been killed in fighting which has taken place. Soviet troops have been dispatched to quell the disturbances.

Slatoust is a Russian city of about 25,000 inhabitants and is the seat of extensive iron and steel works.

Romance and Tragedy in Her Tale of Russian Horror

MRS. IRMA MAY CANTOR,
Who speaks at opening of Jewish war relief appeal in Boston next Sunday.

NOTED JEWS TO BE AT RELIEF OPENING

Two eye witnesses of the horrors of the Ukraines, around one of whom has focused romance and tragedy in unheard of intensity, will be guests of Boston Jewry next Sunday when the Jewish War Relief Appeal will open with a mass meeting in Symphony Hall at 2:30 p. m. and a dinner of 2,000 to remain in the Elysium Club at 6:30 p. m.

Boston interest centres largely in the charming personality of Irma May Cantor, who will make her first visit to this city as a speaker at both the affairs. Mrs. Cantor, who was Miss May, lived through pogroms, famine, typhus epidemics and finally found happiness when she met Rabbi Bernard Cantor, who with Professor Israel Friendlander were sent to open up relief work in the Ukraines. These two men, among the most famous of Jewish scholars in America, were murdered by brigands while distributing relief funds.

It was her fate to discover the bodies of the man she loved and his companion on the road to Odessa coming to America to assist in raising relief funds, she has married the brother of the man she was to wed.

The other eye witness is Dr. George Leikin, chief rabbi of Kazan, Russia, who came to this country only a few days ago.

One of the important addresses will be made by Mayor James M. Curley. Another famous guest will be Eugene Warner of Buffalo, N. Y., chairman of the appeal in New York State, and Rabbi Nathan Krass of New York.

Other invited guests are David A. Brown, national chairman of the appeal; Judge Aaron J. Levi, president of the Independent Order of Brith Abraham, and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ON WAY TO NEW ORLEANS

Members of the Massachusetts and Rhode Island Grand Commanderies left today by special train to attend the grand encampment of the Knights Templar in New Orleans. The encampment will last from April 25 until the 27th. The New England delegates will visit Gettysburg, Chattanooga, White Sulphur Springs and other points of interest on the way. The delegation is headed by Grand Commander Henry C. Dexter.

DEDICATE FLAG AT OLD FRANKLIN SCHOOLHOUSE

Grand Army and World War veterans joined in the dedication of a new, sixty-foot flag pole and flag at the old Franklin schoolhouse on Washington street near Dover where Legion posts and the G. A. R. have quarters. The city of Boston was represented by Chief John O. Tabor of the fire department. The oration was delivered by Clement A. Norton, Suffolk County representative of the Legion.

MYSTERY IN WOMAN'S DROP TO HER DEATH

New Britain, Ct., April 20.—Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Luella Searles, forty-one years old, wife of R. H. Searles, local manufacturer, who died in a local hospital after she had dropped from a third story window at her home. There were no witnesses of the occurrence, and it has not been learned definitely whether she fell or jumped. She had been ill eight months.

MARITAL WRECKS IN ENGLAND NUMEROUS

London, April 20.—Divorces have not dimin shed in England since the war. This is shown by the new list of cases published which totals 440. The list included Lady Rhondda's restitution petition against her husband which is the usual preliminary to a divorce action.

FILENE SHOW IS CLEVERLY ACTED

By F. J. McISAAC,
Dramatic Editor.

It's rather mean to begin to open the first night of an amateur show and comment publicly upon it, and I waited until yesterday afternoon to peek at "Sixes and Sevens," the new musical comedy which the Filene Co-operative Association is putting on at the Colonial Theatre for the entire week.

All the curtains had worn off, and the piece was running as smoothly as a used car just before you buy it, and really it is a very pretentious and entirely professional production for one can't compare to the old Cadet and Bank Officer shows because they were entirely men, pretending to be girls and the Vincent Club shows are a case of girls pretending to be men. Here is a crowd of amateurs in which the female parts are in the hands of regular females while the male roles are handled by he-males—even if they do work in a department store.

CAST OF TEN.

"Sixes and Sevens" was composed by Ralph Harlow, head of the Co-operative Association of Filene's and composer of last year's show, L. S. Milner wrote the lyrics. The book was produced by Neal O'Hara, the pungent newspaper paragraphist.

Evidently these boys have professional production in their minds, for they have their cast down to 10 people instead of two or three times as many, as in an ordinary amateur show. This is very business like professionals as it means only ten big salaries, and for amateurs because even in such a big store as Filene's it's improbable that they could find any more as ten good actors. As a matter of fact they didn't find that many, but of that anon.

The hit of the show this year is made by Helen Rinehart, a lively young lady who looks and sings like a regular performer and who might be suspected of being a ringer if we didn't know she is a buyer at Filene's. Miss Ringham has a remarkable singing voice and her grand opera number is a riot.

CLEVER DANCER.

Marguerite Murray, who was one of the youngest persons in last year's show, is again in a good part with her ability to dance and sing and fun. Thomas Hicks and F. W. Stuart, as a couple of old captains of the type they don't have at Peyntoetown were very amusing. Ackley R. Slee was rather up against it because he was expected to shoot the line of snappy, slangy and sophisticated chatter which O'Hara knows how to write, and at times it came too fast for him. However he did a fair job. The rest of the cast (as for the rest of the cast is that they were good amateurs.

Harlow's music is truly tuneful, graceful and equal to the average musical comedy which pays royalties. The setting was rather bright and the lyrics excellent. The work of the ensemble from the Bargain Basement as well as the more aristocratic sections of the store was remarkably good. Even the Filene brand of bare knees was on exhibition and was worthy of the show last year.

SPECIAL JURY CALLED IN $250,000 BALM SUIT

Hartford, Ct., April 20.—On motion of the defendant a special jury has been called for May 2 in the Superior Court to hear the $250,000 breach of promise suit of Gertrude Ailis, New York manicurist, against John I. Vanschaack, aviator and grandnephew of former Governor Morgan G. Buckeley. Judge Marvin, who felt disqualified, was excused in favor of Judge John Kellogg of Waterbury, who will preside. The defendant was taken prisoner by the Germans while a member of the Lafayette Escadrille.

SPECIAL JURY TO HEAR STEARNS MURDER CASE

Brattleboro, Vt., April 20.—The special Grand Jury which has been summoned to hear cases which the district attorney will submit at the present term of court will shortly hear evidence in the case of Mrs. May Stearns of Bellows Falls, who is charged with the murder of her husband, Jason L. Stearns. The defendant is now in a hospital in Bellows Falls, recovering from injuries she sustained a few weeks ago when she jumped from a third-story window of her home.

REVENUE BUREAU TO PASS ON APPOINTMENTS

Washington, April 20.—Orders to deputy commissioners and heads of divisions of the Internal Revenue Bureau requiring all inquires or applications for appointment in the bureau to be brought through the personnel division were made public today by Daniel C. Roper. Some officials construed the order as forbidding them to confer with members of Congress or others on appointments without first obtaining the approval of Commissioner Blair or the personnel division. Objection was taken in some quarters to the treasury of the ground that R. C. Pollock, head of the appointment division, is a Democrat.

NORTH END BOY DYING AFTER 45-FOOT FALL

Five-year-old Vincenzo Cindelia, while playing on the roof of the tenement house at No. 169 Endicott street, North End, stepped onto the skylight, fell through the glass, dropping forty-five feet to the cement floor of the basement. His skull was fractured and he is dying at the Relief Hospital.

MAINE WOMAN WILL RUN FOR REGISTER

Augusta, Me., April 20.—Ethelia Garside president of the Girls' Community Club, has announced her candidacy for register of deeds on the Democratic ticket.

Nurse Kissing the Doctor While Patient Dies

Jersey City, N. J., April 20.—Stories of misconduct by employes of the Jersey City Isolation Hospital were related in Mayor Hague's office at a hearing into charges that Miss Mona King, a nurse, was kissing a doctor in a bathroom while a patient was dying in the next room.

During the hearing, Dr. John H. O'Neill, who Miss King was accused of kissing, smiled several times to the displeasure of Mayor Hague and was asked to leave the room.

Miss Katherine O'Rourke, a nurse, and Timothy Donohue, a special officer, testified as to the kissing episode.

ANTI-CHRISTIAN MOVE IN CHINA SPREADING

Amoy, China, April 20 (By the Associated Press).—An anti-Christian movement, said to have started with the formation of twenty organizations in Peking University, is spreading rapidly over China, according to reports reaching here. The agitation has reached Amoy University, where students and other institutions. Christian leaders and the consular authorities express alarm.

A Way to Peace

American Friends of Ireland Must Tell Irish Leaders That They Must Find It

Do not allow the events in Ireland to discourage you. Irish history is full of surprises and there never was anything more surprising than the sudden collapse of British resistence in Ireland.

This unexpected triumph of Irish patriotism and courage resulted from the intelligent discipline of the Irish Republican Army and of the Irish Republican leaders, De Valera, Griffith, Collins and their associates, together with the increasing gravity of conditions in India, which is far more vital to the British Empire than a dozen Irelands, despite all the British propaganda that Ireland is vital to British national defence.

Now the brains, the discipline, the self-restraint, the patriotism which enabled Ireland to drive the British troops out of their country and to obtain more than they ever expected five years ago to get, even though it is not as much as they ought to have, will not permit Ireland to be torn asunder again this time by fratricidal strife.

It is unthinkable. Only the enemies of Ireland believe it possible, and with them the wish is father to the thought.

The one message which must come with a swelling note from America is that under no circumstance should the Irishmen who have fought together as brothers now turn to rend one another. There is a way of peace out of this difficulty and the friends of Ireland in America must tell the Irish leaders that they will hold them responsible for finding that way, whatever it is.

Exploitation of R. R. Labor

Story Told Board by Cambridge Foreman Should Shame Those Who Seek Further Reduction of Pay

The story of the exploitation of common laborers by our railroads now being told by the Railroad Labor Board at Chicago, ought to make those responsible and those who are demanding the reduction of the pay of these laborers blush with shame.

E. L. Hardy, a section foreman in Cambridge, told the Labor Board that his men's children were underfed and that their mothers had to work to help the family finances, and many families had to be helped out by charity. These are among the classes of labor whose wages it is proposed to reduce.

H. C. Dunway of Texas told how the railroads were inducing Mexican laborers, whose standard of living was so low that they drove out white labor. He said that they lived in pitiful conditions and were so poorly nourished that they could not do a day's proper manual labor. "A menu of stew concocted from scraps of beef and bread, hard as brick, constituted their whole subsistence," he said.

On the one hand our railroads have been allowed to charge so much for the goods they transport that they have killed business. Are they now to be allowed to exploit labor until they have destroyed its efficiency and turn them into a natural hatred which will in the working out of human nature induce sabotage?

How long will private management of these railroads be permitted? Since the government foolishly turned them back to the old mismanagers their record has been a long trail of failures.

Veterans Discuss Bonus

Interesting Account of Reunion of Field Hospital, No. 28

The following is an interesting letter, which we publish in full:

Editor Boston American:

Field Hospital, No. 28, was a unit of the Fourth Sanitary Train of the Fourth Division. A large majority of the men forming this hospital were recruited from around Boston. A reunion was held on April 8. At this meeting the question of the bonus was thoroughly discussed. It was the wish of the men present that the results of their discussion be made known to the various papers in Boston.

There were present at the dinner twenty-eight men. Twenty-six of these were in favor of a bonus in some form. Twenty-four men were in favor of financing such a bonus by a sales-tax. A large majority were not in favor of the present bonus bill. If this bill was passed there were only two who would avail themselves of the opportunity of immediately cashing in. Only one man was in favor of issuing fiat money or war bonds for twenty years for financing this bill.

The discussion of this question was very full and very sane, and I believe that it gave a clear estimate of the opinion of the majority of ex-service men on this question, which may be summed up as follows:

That ex-service men believe that some arrangement should be made by the government which would equalize either immediately or in time the difference in wages paid to men while in service and that paid to men in civil life; that ex-service men believe the sales-tax to be the fairest and best method of financing such; that ex-service men do not think the present bonus bill is financially sound or drawn to accomplish some of the objects desired.

It speaks for itself.

Cheap Medical Aid

It's Offensive to Cheap Doctors

Cornell University established a clinic of competent physicians, to give good service and charge only $1 a visit. Six medical societies in New York have united in denouncing the pay clinic of Cornell University as "Socialistic" and "incompetent."

"Socialistic" is a nice convenient word, extremely useful when anything happens to interfere with, or threaten, your income. Private ownership calls public ownership socialism and anarchy.

But you may be quite sure that the best doctors, well able to take care of themselves and more than willing to take care of the poor, do not object to the Cornell clinic.

Letter to the Editor

Movie Censorship

Editor Boston American:

I wish to highly commend your editorial in the paper of April the first in regard to censorship of the motion pictures. Not only, as you point out, is the motion picture similar to the press in its power to influence public opinion, but it is also a close kin to the spoken stage, which has never been restricted to any great extent in this country, and which, strangely enough, no one seems to suggest be restricted as they do the motion picture.

I understand that there is now a suit pending in the New York State Supreme Court in which the manufacturers of one of the movie news weeklies seeks to prevent the State Motion Picture Commission from interfering with its reports of public happenings, claiming the same rights as the press is constitutionally granted. I hope the Boston American will use its large circulation this Fall to influence public opinion against the proposed bill at the time of the Referendum.

"CHILDREN of the Market Place"—what a story! Edgar Lee Masters has taken the question of slavery in this country up to the time of the Civil War and woven around that fascinating subject his own imaginary part of the life of an Englishman deeply submerged in the affairs of the politics of that day.

This is one of a very few stories that belies the fate that usually befalls parts told in the first person. Edgar Lee Masters has in this book accomplished the best that has yet come from his pen.

He has handled the subject in a way that is splendid. He has brought in all the big political figures of the day, including Lincoln, of course; but he has done it in such a way that the whole is crammed full of interest from start to finish.

The outstanding characters, James Miles, the narrator; the octoroon, Zoe; Douglas, and towards the last, Isabel, are all well drawn and move through the book convincingly alive to the tips of their fingers.

All in all, "Children of the Market Place" is one of the best books that has come to our notice in some time.

CHEMIC COURAGE TURNS NETTLES TO SILK

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

AARON HILL would better count himself lucky that even his name survives after two centuries—so little is left of most of us, good or bad, when we leave this familiar scene!

Except to those who are curious about the little folk of our English literature, Aaron Hill would not be remembered at all, save for some verses he once wrote on a window in Scotland.

Verses which contain some sage advice and sound.

Says Aaron Hill: "Tender-handed stroke a nettle, and it stings you for your pains; grasp it like a man of mettle, and it soft as silk remains."

Perhaps, you are not willing to try that, literally, on nettle, thistle, bramble, or cactus, or even on a bristling rosebush. You may be willing to take that forgotten poet's word for the success of his vigorous method.

Safe Advice

Figuratively, however, and, practically, as applied to life and circumstances, you may safely follow his advice. Perhaps, you will be all the more inclined to accept him as adviser, if you hear the rest of his worldly wisdom, inscribed on that same Scottish window of his imagination.

For Aaron Hill, says, further: "'Tis the same with common natures: use 'em kindly, they rebel; but be rough as nutmeg-graters, and the rogues obey you well."

The present writer is furthest from seeking to recommend a cynical worldly wisdom to any one. So we shall pass by the last bit of suggestion, with simply the sympathetic comment: that it is borne out by common experience that the crass and coarse and bullying natures are usually cowardly, and a courageous attitude easily subdues and conquers them.

What is more to our liking and closer to our purpose is the helpful suggestion as to the handling of untoward and unfriendly circumstances. There is no doubt of it, for the men of mettle the prickly nettle is soft as silk in his hands.

In other words, courage conquers all obstacles.

But you face life fearfully—and you are self-defeated.

Proverbially, cowards die many times before their deaths; the valiant never taste of death but once.

Ask no odds of life, and all its advantages are yours. Be unafraid and you need not fear. Live in dread—and your life is a shrinking apology.

Brings Confidence

And courage brings confidence, and confidence brings cheer, before which fear retreats and victory advances.

The courageous attitude is the spiritual banner of the sane optimist. By inversion, timidity and fear are symptoms of pessimism.

You have heard and read many an allegorical comparison of these two types of spirit. Here is a favorite one of the present writer. The optimist exclaims: "Oh, see that beautiful light!" The pessimist retorts: "Bah! there is no light at all!" And he blows it out.——

There is no denying that life is difficult for most of us some of the time, and for some of us most of the time. If we are honest with ourselves, we are bound to admit that most of the difficulty is within us.

Indeed, just the difference between courage and fear, between brave or timid handling of the nettles of life, spells the story of success or failure in living.

Grasp the the nettle like a man of mettle; believe in your ability to live life masterfully; strengthen your faith with high purpose; back your purpose with firm will; base your will upon earnest effort; and it is amazing—so, it is perfectly natural—that the nettle of life is silk in your hands.

Fear no longer, and life becomes terribly beautiful—and you become a conquering hero.

YOU should have a profound, meditative temperament if born today, and a character of fine patience. Indeed you have been endowed by the stars with a gracious high-mindedness which is truly not of this earth.

Whether the life you lead measures up to the high standard of righteousness which fate has offered you will depend upon your seizure of the great opportunity of your life, which is scheduled in most cases for your fortieth year.

During this year, if you were born between the years of 1896 and 1907, it is more than probable that you will be called to the service of your fellow-men in a moment of great moral crisis and you will acquit yourself well in the mission.

Today shows one sign which portends good fortune for travelers, yet other signs bring restlessness and indecision. Whereas your ensuing year may bring domestic trouble, it will merely be the outcome of business trials, so relax as much as possible and watch your digestion.

Today's children will have a cheerful, hail-fellow personality, and will later be successful in business.

SEEN AND HEARD

By Lambert and Daily

CONGRESSMAN PETER F. TAGUE, fire commissioner to be, and MAJOR WILLIAM J. CASEY, acting fire commissioner, met outside the Mayor's gate the other day. The Congressman opined that he would like to go up to fire headquarters and look it over. Major Casey remarked that it was a much different place than the printing plant.

LATEST STYLE—Official auto plate for city fathers. It has a white base, blue figures and reads at the top "Official." Just below is the city seal and an under line says, "City of Boston."

GEORGE CANTY, former secretary to Mayor Peters, and at present secretary to Congressman George Holden Tinkham, it will please his friends to know, is rapidly recovering from an operation on his throat. Mr. Canty is in New York, and is expecting to sail for London shortly on an important mission.

The attendance of the women at the meetings of the city council is increasing every week. At the last meeting more than half of those present were women.

Even if they were defeated in their fight to put over the South Boston Gymnasium, COUNCILLORS MORIARTY and FORD have the satisfaction in knowing that South Boston in general will be benefited by the Strandway improvement and the new addition to the Christopher J. Lee playground on M street. Both took their "licking" gracefully.

PRESIDENT ALLEN of the Senate will lose four solid bulwarks of support at the end of the present session. Senator Silas O. Reed expects to become Postmaster of Taunton. Senators William J. Naphen of Natick, Leonard F. Hardy of Huntington and Wesley E. Monk of Watertown will retire from office holding. All four are counted as independents.

WENDELL PHILLIPS THORE, father of the old-age pension bill, will give a radio talk on old-age pensions from the Medford Hillside Station the night of May 8.

JOSEPH LUNDY, well known attorney, is also on the convalescent list recovering from a bad attack of pleurisy. "Joe" has been missed around the Hall, where he is an occasional visitor.

MICHAEL J. WARD, secretary to Mayor Curley, was seen the other day in company with a golf instructor. Since Easter he has been wearing a new golf suit. As the w. k. Sherlock would say, he must be taking up golf. The genial sec. says he don't know anything about golf holes, but since he has been at City Hall he has fallen into about 18 holes left over from the last administration.

JOHN J. CURLEY, city treasurer, who has been on the sick list for several days with a heavy cold, is expected to return to his desk shortly.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON CREATION OF LIFE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest

"Some friends and I were discussing some of the achievements of science, and among the subjects mentioned was man's inability to create life. I stated that scientists have been able to create life in some of the lowest forms, such as protoplasms, jelly fish, etc., in their laboratories, and were in high hopes of producing life in higher forms. This is my interpretation of what I have read. Am I right?—J. S. C.

NO, you are wrong, and you have misinterpreted what you have read. Man has never yet created new life. Jacques Loeb and others have, by artificial appliances, induced the development of the eggs of some lowly forms of animal life, such as sea urchins, outside the regular natural processes of fertilization, but that is quite a different thing from the creation of life in previously unliving matter. The latter has been tried, but never with success.

Physical Basis of Life

Protoplasm is not a species or form of living creature like a jelly fish, but it is the physical basis of life, present in all forms and species of living creatures.

That some biologists entertain high hopes of ultimately discovering the secret of the origin of life is no doubt true, just as it is true that some physicists are hopeful of finding a way to utilize the vast store of energy "locked up" in the atoms of matter. And these hopes are unquestionably based upon grounds that seem very promising. The recent experiments in the transmutation of the metal tungsten into the gas helium may finally lead to the unlocking of the door that separates us from Nature's grand store of inter-atomic energy.

In a similar way the investigators seem to have their fingers almost on the spring of the lock that keeps the secret of living matter, for the chemical composition of protoplasm is well enough known, as far as the substances that compose it are concerned. You may, indeed, make a model of protoplasm. You take a certain quantity of finely ground up matter containing carbon, oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen, you mix it with oil, as Buetschli did, and so form a paste. Now, what happens to that paste is thus described by Dr. Peter Chalmers Mitchell in the Encyclopedia Britannica:

Secret of Life

"A fragment brought into a liquid in which the solid particles are soluble slowly expands into a honeycomb-like foam, the walls of the minute vesicles being films of oil, and the contents being the solid particles dissolved in droplets of the circumambient liquid. Such a model properly constructed, that is to say, with the vesicles of foam microscopic in size, is a marvellous imitation of the appearance of protoplasm, being distinguishable from it only by a greater symmetry. The nicely balanced conditions of solution produce a state of osmotic equilibrium, with the result that internal streaming movements and changes of position in the model simulate closely the corresponding manifestations in real protoplasm."

So far good, but now mark what follows:

"The model has no power of reproduction; in a comparatively short time equilibrium is restored and the resemblance with protoplasm disappears. But it suggests a method by which, when the chemistry of proteid is better known, the proper substances which compose protoplasm may be brought together to form a simple kind of protoplasm."

BIDDING IN AUCTION BRIDGE

By S. S. Carvalho

ARTICLE X.

HERE are some examples of one, two and three Initial One Major Suit bids, the Trump being spades:

Spades—Ace, King and three small.
Hearts—Three small.
Diamonds—Three small.
Clubs—Two small.

Spades—Ace, King and three small.
Hearts—King and two small.
Diamonds—Two small.
Clubs—Three small.

Spades—Ace, King and four small.
Hearts—Two small.
Diamonds—Three small.
Clubs—Two small.

This represents five sure tricks and is an Initial bid of two.

Spades—Ace, King and five small.
Hearts—Two small.
Diamonds—Three small.
Clubs—One small.

Bid three Spades at once. With any other Trump and an adverse declaration not more than one quick trick can be counted.

In all of the above examples Ace, King and small is practically of equal strength with Ace, Queen, Jack and small, or King, Queen, Jack and small.

Spades—Queen, Jack and four small.
Hearts—Two small.
Diamonds—Ace and two small.
Clubs—Two small.

This is an example of a long Major suit headed by Queen, Jack. It cannot be bid as One Spade, because it would violate the One Major Suit convention. As there are five sure tricks it is unsafe to bid for the second round. Therefore, bid Two Spades.

Never make an Initial bid of more than one in a Major suit when strong in Both Major suits. With strength in two suits bid that of the higher value first even if it is slightly weaker. Afterwards bid two of the lower value suit, so that your partner can shift to the first declaration without raising the contract.

To be Continued Tomorrow.
